HELICOPTER SHELL KILLS TOP ECHELON

Misfire By U.S. Gunship In Saigon Claims Six Major Aides; Americans Launch Probe

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command launched a full-scale investigation today into the misfiring of a rocket by an American helicopter gunship that killed six key South Vietnamese officials and seemed likely to place new strains on U.S.- Vietnamese relations.

American officials were shaken and appeared concerned about repercussions from the incident. An editorial, anti-American in tone, appeared in the Saigon Daily News, under the heading, "An Accident Too Many."

Later a U.S. spokesman said a full investigation of the incident is being made. He indicated that disciplinary action might be taken against the helicopter pilot.

As the latest wave of fighting in the capital area went into its 10th day, South Vietnamese military headquarters reported that 600 to 800 fresh Viet Cong troops had slipped into the northern suburb of Gia Dinh, two and one-half miles from the center of Saigon.

This coincided with an allied communique stating that 1,019 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese were killed in and around the capital during the week ending last Saturday. South Vietnamese troops, who were said to have done most of the fighting, reported their own casualties as light. U.S. forces listed six Americans killed and 32 wounded for the period.

The rocket explosion yesterday also wounded four other officials, including Saigon's mayor. The Vietnamese were hit while observing operations against Viet Cong soldiers holding out in buildings in Cholon, the Chinese district in southwestern Saigon.

Those killed were Col. Pho Quoc Chu, the director of the port of Saigon and Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky's brother-in-law; Col. Nguyen Van Luan, the Saigon police chief; Col. Le Ngoc Tru, commander of Saigon's 5th Police Precinct; Maj. Nguyen Ngoc Xinh, chief of staff of joint operations for the national police; Maj. Nguyen Bao Thuy, chief of the Saigon mayor's cabinet and brother of the former minister of revolutionary development, and Lt. Col. Dao Ba Phuoc, commander of the 5th Ranger Group.

The wounded were Saigon's mayor, Col. Van Van Cua; Col. Tran Van Phan, chief of staff of the national police director; Col. Nguyen Van Giam, deputy chief of the capital military district, and Maj. Le Ngoc To, comander of the 5th Combat Police Battalion.

One officer said Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, ordered that no further American air strikes may be called in Saigon or its suburbs without his approval, but a U.S. military spokesman declined to comment on this.

New Hanoi Envoy Dims Peace Try

PARIS (UPI)—A new North Vietnamese negotiator arrived today in Paris and immediately dimmed hopes Hanoi was easing its conditions for peace talks. His first statement was another demand for an unconditional halt to American bombing attacks.

The new negotiator was Le Duc Tho, 57, a ranking North Vietnamese Communist who is a member of the Politburo and a close associate of Ho Chi Minh. His assignment had raised speculation Hanoi may be ready to leave the propaganda phase and enter productive negotiations.

Tho flew here from Moscow and talks with Kremlin leaders and told newsmen the United States must "renounce its obstinate attitude" toward a bombing halt if the two sides were to get down to business.

"I am convinced that if the American side renounces its obstinate attitude, conversations on other problems of interest to the two sides can begin without delay," Tho said.

Tho, who also stopped over in Peking, flew here from Moscow aboard a special Ilyushin

Polls In Marin Will Be Open Until 8 P.M.

More than three-quarters of Marin's 88,262 registered voters are expected to vote tomorrow in California's primary election, county elections officials predict.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Partial results may be known by 10:30 p.m., elections officials said.

SENATE, HOUSE

Voters will cast their ballots in races for president, U.S. Senate, House of Representatives, California Assembly, Marin County Board of Supervisors, Marin Municipal Water District, nine sanitary and community services districts and county central committees for the major political parties.

No write-in votes for candidates not on the ballot will be counted. In partisan contests, however, except for president, a voter may write in the name of a candidate from another party.

KUCHEL, RAFFERTY

In the U.S. Senate race, Republican candidates are: incumbent Thomas H. Kuchel of Anaheim, Orange County; Max Rafferty, state Superintendent of Public Instruction; James A. Ware of Los Angeles, business executive; Phil Cammack of Santa Monica, engineer, and W. C. Jones of Los Angeles, publisher.

Rafferty reported today in a press release that the three minor candidates, Jones, Cammack and Ware, had withdrawn in his favor.

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES

Democratic candidates for the U.S. Senate nomination are state Public Utilities Commissioner William M. Bennett of Kentfield; Walter R. Buchanan of Venice, Los Angeles County, educator; Alan Cranston of Los Angeles, former state controller; state Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson of Beverly Hills, and Charles Crail of Los Angeles, bankers' computer counsel.

Paul Jacobs of San Francisco, a writer, is unopposed in the primary as the Peace and Freedom Party's candidate for the U.S. Senate.

In congressional races, Marin voters will cast ballots in two districts, the First and the Sixth. The First District includes

Dispute Involves Optical Care, Working Conditions

Five metal fabricating plants in Marin County, with a total of about 800 employees, were shut down by the Machinists union today in a dispute over working conditions and an optical-prescription drug benefit demanded by the union in a new contract.

Machinists Local 238, San Rafael, put up picket lines today at A. G. Schoonmaker, E. D. Bullard and Vincent Whitney Co., all in Sausalito; H. Koch and Sons, Corte Madera, and Bergman Manufacturing Co., San Rafael.

The companies, which have about 465 Machinists Union members, reported that their shop operation were at a standstill. Two smaller companies G & W Manufacturing Co., Sausalito, and Victor's Machine Shop, San Rafael, have also been negotiating with the Machinists, but were not struck.

THREE-YEAR CONTRACT

The union has agreed to a three-year contract granting the same increases for which San Francisco machinists went back to work last month after a five-week strike, but is at odds with the Marin companies over working conditions and an optical-prescription benefit.

The Federal Mediation Service in San Francisco said that Mediator Cleo Harris has been assigned to the dispute and is seeking to set up another meeting between the union and the employers for tomorrow or Wednesday. The California Metal Trades Association is representing all of the employers except Koch, which has its own negotiator.

HOURLY INCREASE

John Richards, employee relations services representative for the California Metal Trades Association, said the companies offered a three-year contract with the folowing provisions:

Maintenance machinists, 62-cent-an-hour increase to a 4.60 hourly wage; journeymen machinists, 50-cent-an-hour increase to $4.24 an hour; specialists, 26 cents an hour to $3.52; production and helpers, 24-cents-an-hour to $3.22 and $3.04.

In addition, said Richards, maintenance and journeymen machinists would get 16-cent-an-hour increase the second and

Hurricane Rips Into Florida

MIAMI (UPI) — Tropical Storm Abby grew into a "minimal hurricane" today and headed for populous Tampa Bay. Five persons were missing in the fury of the season's first storm.

The weather bureau hoisted hurricane warnings along 170 miles of the Florida Gulf Coast, from Marco Island north to Tarpon Springs.

With 75 miles per hour winds, the storm was located at 9 A.M. PDT, near latitude 25.6 north, longitude 83.3 west, about 170 miles south-southwest of tmpa, moving north-northeast.

TO TAMPA BAY

"If this course is maintained, Abby will march up Tampa Bay around midnight tonight," the weather bureau said. This meant that Tampa and St. Petersburg and the thickly-populated suburban areas would bear the brunt of the storm.

The Coast Guard said the storm forced suspension of its search for two boats carrying a total of five persons. The storm crossed western Cuba last night and started moving up the Gulf of Mexico, raking Dry Tortugas this morning.

COUPLES MISSING

Two couples were missing on a 34-foot auxiliary sloop, Celerity, bound from Dry Tortugas to Key West. It failed to make port as scheduled yesterday afternoon. The Coast Guard identified the couples as Mr. and Mrs. John Jichel and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Olsen. It said it had no addresses for them.

John Adamic, a commercial fisherman from Marathon in the Florida Keys, was missing in his boat, Sandy.

"Abby is a minimal hurricane at this time," the weather bureau reported. However, it will bring dangerous winds and tides 4 to 6 feet above normal and very heavy rains over the area of hurricane warnings.

France Told To Decide: De Gaulle Or Red Rule

PARIS (UPI)—Premier Georges Pompidou told the French nation today it must decide between Communism and President Charles de Gaulle in the June 23 parliamentary elections.

In an unscheduled nationwide broadcast Pompidou also called for an early settlement of strikes crippling French industry and asked students to leave the universities they have seized.

Pompidou made his appeal for labor peace as some unions stepped up their demands for ending the strikes. The 10-million man strike appeared to be slowly crumbling but holdouts in key industries were blocking a surge back to work.

Pompidou said Frenchmen "must decide if they are for or against totalitarian Communism" and called on voters to "defend the republic and freedom."

He said the crisis has shown "the danger that the republic could be overthrown by a totalitarian enterprise, backed by violence, notably in the Communist Party, which has openly shown its ambitions and demands."

The nation "must decide if it is for or against totalitarian communism", Pompidou said. "Needless to say we are against it. We are ready to fight the danger."

He called on "all citizens, all politicians who want to prepare the future and who refuse to envisage the possibility of a totalitarian Communist regime in France," to swing in behind the Gaullists.

Pompidou served notice the Gaullists will fight the election on an anti-Communist platform. The de Gaulle party, the Popular Republic Movement, will offer its patronage and support to non-Gaullists who are nevertheless anti-Communists, the premier said.

He told anti-Communists "who are not yet ready to be converted to Gaullism, the future is not empty. "After the elections we (the Gaullists) will see with whom we can work and prepare the future," he said.

He told strikers the government would honor "all its engagements" concerning increased salaries, vacations, fringe benefits and workers participation in interprises.

"This paralysis" caused by the strikes "is beginning to hurt everybody," he said.

President Preparing D.C. Return

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—President Johnson arranged to fly back to Washington tonight for a possible commencement appearance at Glassboro N.J. State College tomorrow and a official visit from the president of Costa Rica.

The White House had no comment on the likelihood that the President would revisit the Glassboro campus—site of his summit meeting with Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin—but all indications pointed that way.

(At Glassboro, vigorous activity was under way today. Workmen were installing 20 telephone lines on the campus and erecting two wooden platforms which could support television cameras.)

The chief executive, winding up a six-day memorial holiday stay at the LBJ ranch, issued a brief statement on the death of Helen Keller.

"Of the millions who mourn Helen Keller today," he said, "there are countless numbers whose personal burdens will always be lightened by the memory of her magnificant faith, courage and achievements. The gifts she has left behind—the gifts of character and conviction—are America's most precious heritage."

East Germany Frees Teacher

BERLIN (AP) — Ronald Wiedenhoeft, a 31-year-old art history instructor at Columbia University, was released by East German authorities today after he had been held for nine months without charge.

Wiedenhoeft was returned to the American sector via the wall crossing point at Checkpoint Charley at 2:30 p.m.

Jet Makes Skid Landing At JFK

NEW YORK (AP) — A Trans World Airlines Boeing 727 jet with 102 persons aboard struck a pier coming into La Guardia Airport today, took to the air again and made a skidding landing at Kennedy Airport. Police said 14 persons were slightly injured.

TWA said 95 passengers and seven crew members were aboard.

Police said the injured were treated for minor injuries at an airport medical facility.

The plane, Flight 406 from Cincinnati, apparently damaged its landing gear when it tried to land at La Guardia and struck a light pier extending into Bowery Bay and leading to a runway.

Kennedy, McCarthy Wind It Up; RFK Sounds Stop-Humphrey Call

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The Kennedy-McCarthy campaign in California rolled into its final hours today on the eve of the presidential primary carrying the year's biggest prize. One candidate was calling for a stop-Humphrey coalition.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York wanted his and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy's forces to join after tomorrow's crucial vote to deny the nomination to Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who has entered no primaries. McCarthy said he was making no such deals.

The victor in the California primary wins the right to compete with Humphrey for the Democratic presidential nomination. He also gets a bloc of 172 national convention votes of the 1,312 needed to capture the nomination.

Whatever he may say after the California primary, the loser will be written off as a major contender.

Both candidates moved into the more heavily populated areas of southern California Sunday after appearing at San Francisco Saturday night in a debate which produced few sparks and no clear winner. The nationally televised program did provide some extra exposure for the lesser known McCarthy and his views (See story page 2.)

Always subject to change, McCarthy's schedule for the last day of the campaign showed only three appearances —all in the Los Angeles area.

But Kennedy, as usual, planned a rugged finale in all three of the state's major population centers. His schedule called for a flight from Los Angeles to San Francisco, then a return to the Los Angeles area and a flight to San Diego. It was a 13-hour itinerary, which could stretch to 14 or 15.

Meanwhile today, the state Poll says Sen. Robert F. Kennedy leads Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy but neither holds a majority in the Democratic presidential primary race.

The poll, reported today in the Los Angeles Times, was taken Saturday by Don Muchmore prior to the television-radio discussion between the two candidates.

It gave Kennedy 36 per cent, McCarthy 31 per cent, the Lynch delegation 15 per cent, with 13 per cent undecided, in a sampling of 1,007 personal "in home interviews."

In the Republican race for the U.S. Senate nomination, incumbent Thomas H. Kuchel was given 42.5 per cent, Dr. Max Rafferty 39.5 per cent, publisher James A. Ware .3 per cent; engineer Phil Cammack .2 per cent, with 16.5 per cent undecided.

Kennedy-McCarthy TV Highlights

NEW YORK (AP) — Following are highlights of the discussion Saturday night in San Francisco between Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and Eugene J. McCarthy on ABC radio and television:

Q. What would you do to stop violence and riots in this country?

Kennedy: "I would help police departments through funds ... I have gone into the ghettos ... and said we can't solve these problems overnight ... I think we have to provide jobs with the government being the employer as a last resort and then bringing the private sector in in a major way ... doing away as much as possible with the welfare system ... and getting people jobs by giving the private sector tax incentives and tax credits."

McCarthy: "I think I am in general agreement ... there ought to be federal money given to state and local authorities ... that the use of either federal troops or national guards should be a very reserved use ... and what we have to do is to begin to build a million houses a year for the low-income people. Unless we do that ..."

Q. If you were president, what would you do in Vietnam?

McCarthy: "I would be de-escalating the war in Vietnam and drawing back from some of our advanced positions while still holding strength ... I would not have the secetary of state making statements about how we would have no coalition government to come out of the conference in Paris ... I'm not particularly concerned whether it is called a coalition or fusion ... and we have to recognize that that government will include the National Liberation Front."

Kennedy: "I'd pursue the negotiations in Paris. At the same time I'd make it quite clear that we would expect Saigon ... to begin their own negotiations with the National Liberation Front. I would be opposed to what I understand Sen. McCarthy's position is of forcing a coalition government on the government of Saigon, a coalition with the Communists even before we begin the negotiations ... that should be determined by the negotiators, and particularly by those people of South Vietnam.

McCarthy: "I didn't say I was going to force a coalition government on the South Vietnamese. I said we should make clear we are willing to accept that. If the South Vietnamese want to continue to fight, work out their own negotiations, that's well and good.

Q. What about tax increases —the President has made a very strong appeal for a 10 per cent surcharge.

Kennedy: "I have said that I would take an increase in taxes. I think the 10 per cent is too high, and I think it's too unfair to middle income groups ... Secondly, I would like a tax reform program ... there are dozens of people who make more than a million dollars a year who pay no taxes at all ... I think it's unjust and unreasonable ... I would like to see a program so that all people pay their just share of taxes."

McCarthy: "I think everyone is for that; the question of eliminating inequities in the code; these real loopholes were the things we should have attacked in the big tax cut of '64 ... So far as the surtax is concerned, I recommended earlier that they use credit controls and some selective excise tax ... I think we may have to be forced to ... a surtax of 6 or maybe 8 per cent ... 6 per cent plus a $6 billion cut in expenditures."

Q. President Johnson has been emphasizing that, no matter who is the next president, the United States will keep its commitments in Asia. What do you think?

Kennedy: "I expect that we are going to remain in Korea. I think we have a position in the world that we cannot ignore. I don't think that position rests on military power so much as what our moral leadership is ... think that aggression would be against the United Nations, which is still the power in South Korea ... I do think we have some commitments around the globe... to Israel, for instance ... but what I don't think is that we can be policemen of the world."

McCarthy: "I have been a strong defender of President Truman and his intervention in Korea. I think we have clear obligations to the Chinese in Formosa, Taiwan. We have clear obligation to the Japanese by vitrue of the treaty ... we have a clear moral, legal responsibility in the Middle East to Israel, and also I think a strong obligation to maintain strength in NATO."

Q. Should Secretary of State Rusk be replaced?

Kennedy: "I think he's been a very dedicated American ... I happen to disagree with the policies he's espousing ... but I don't question his integrity.

McCarthy: I think we give cabinet members too much protection ... They ought to be held answerable for policy mistakes and for position mistakes ... cabinet members ought to be more expendable than senators."

HUMPHREY AND HIS 'JEWEL'

Vice President Hubert Humphrey tinkers with the carburetor of his 1926 Model T Ford for the benefit of newsmen and photographers who toured Humphrey's Waverly, Minn., home yesterday. The old car shimmied a bit when Humphrey led a motorcade around his lake front home. He said he's going to put in new wheel bearings but hasn't had time lately to get at the job. Humphrey refers to the Model T and another relic, a Model A, as his "jewels." (AP Wirephoto)

Rocky Makes Wisconsin Bid

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)— New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller told a group of Negro leaders today he hopes the Republican Party "will exercise its right to make a choice (of presidential candidates) — not just pay off political debts."

Rockefeller brought his belated bid for the GOP monination on to Wisconsin last night for the first time. He dined privately with Republican Gov. Warren Knowles in Madison and then flew on the Milwaukee.

He told Negro leaders at a meeting in Milwaukee's Canaan Baptist Church that the United States needs "national leadership that truly cares about justice for each American—and knows how to achieve it."

Cigarettes were made by machine as far back as 1880.

Nixon Staff Stranded In The Bahamas

MIAMI (UPI)—Former vice president Richard Nixon today awaited word from part of his staff stranded on an island in the Bahamas before flying north to resume his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination.

Nixon had meetings scheduled today with Republican congressmen in Washington, but Sunday night an aide said that 16 persons in the candidate's entourage —including part of the crew of his chartered plane —were stranded on an island.

Aide Bob Haldeman said the party, including several newsmen, had flown to the Bahamas to do some fishing, but apparently were grounded because of bad weather.

Nixon also spent a soggy weekend at his favorite south Florida retreat on Key Biscayne, where he hoped to get some sun. But rains sprawned by the same system that sent tropical storm Abby reeling off the western coast of Cuba pelted the region all weekend.

Percy Would Accept Spot With Nixon

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (UPI)— Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois says he would accept an invitation from Richard M. Nixon to run as vice president on the Republican national ticket.

Percy said Saturday former Vice President Nixon was "99.44 per cent sure of winning the nomination (for President)." Percy told a news conference he would join Nixon on the national ticket if he was "released" from his obligations as senator.

"Under certain circumstances, I think, providing the Illinois delegation and the Illinois political leadership and the sense of the people release me from my obligations as a Senator," Percy said in response to a question as to whether he saw himself as a Vice Presidential candidate. Percy, elected U.S. Senator in 1966, said he "couldn't imagine anyone in public life saying 'no'" to such an invitation.

Bagley Plans Bridge 'Loophole' Legislation

Legislation to close "a gaping loophole" in the 1923 act that set up the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District will be introduced Thursday in Sacramento, Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, said today.

Bagley said he and his staff prepared the amendments yesterday following reports in the Independent-Journal Friday and Saturday that the district directors had authorized a $340,000 subcontract without competitive bidding. A majority of the directors agreed the subcontract to repair rusted suspension cables was part of an inspection, and was not a "repair" job.

The 1923 act requires competitive bidding whenever the estimated cost of a repair or construction job is over $5,000, Bagley noted. However, unlike laws governing state agencies, the bridge act does not extend the requirement for competitive bidding to maintenance, alteration or inspection jobs, Bagley said.

His amendments would make the extension to all of these, and to "all similar work," he said.

Noting that the district in the past several months has awarded or is about to award more than $1 million in contracts to Ammann and Whitney, New York engineering firm, Bagley said his amendments would require that contracts for studies, plans and engineering be subject to competive bidding. "We would, of course, limit the bidding to major bridge engineering firms," he said.

Bagley's amendments also would require the district to advertise for bids in a weekly trade paper of general circulation in San Francisco or Los Angeles "devoted primarily to the dissemination of contract news among contracting firms." At present, the bridge district act requires only that bids be advertised in any newspaper in the district selected by the general manager.

Bagley said his amendments would make it a misdemeanor for the bridge district directors or staff to employ any means to evade competitive bid requirements, "including amending of existing contracts." The latter "seems to be a method of evasion being employed," said Bagley.

He said the amendments would be made a part of his bill (AB 855) to replace the district with the Golden Gate Authority, a regional agency to run all bridges in the Bay Area.

Directors of the bridge district "are not responsible to the people," said Bagley, "but they are responsible, if to no one else, to the Legislature — which has full power of amendment of the bridge act."

Bagley said he will fight to add his amendments to whatever bridge district legislation passes this year.

Bartender Reports Car Taken From Lot

John T. Whitworth of 110 La Brea Way, San Rafael, a bartender at Cappelli's Flatiron Bar, Second and B streets, San Rafael, reported his auto was stolen from a market parking lot near his place of employment early yesterday.

Newsletter Rips Storer On Lagoon

The Bolinas Harbor District's first newsletter came out today, and it came out swinging — at Marin County supervisors, particularly Thomas T. Storer, for their move last week to dissolve the district and take over Bolinas Lagoon affairs themselves.

The supervisors treated the harbor commission as "whipping boys" for the political ambitions of two supervisors, including, Storer, the newsletter, "Dispatch Number 1," said.

The board voted Tuesday to oppose a Senate bill giving the district until 1971 to make "substantial improvements" to the lagoon. The supervisors then passed a policy declaration offered by Storer that the lagoon should be transferred to the county and the county should have sole zoning jurisdiction.

The action was "an old time land grab," the newsletter said. It said the Senate bill, introduced by Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, was intended to clarify various interpretations of how long the district had, under its enabling act, to improve the lagoon.

"Supervisor Storer . . . waxed eloquent on old jurisdictional problems . . . which he apparently did not choose to remember were buried by mutual agreement . . . when the joint powers agreement and the joint study program for Bolinas Lagoon were initiated," the newsletter said.

It said the problems were Storer's responsibility in the first place as supervisor for the area, and said Storer "has been notably absent from all meetings of the harbor district" during his term.

By way of background, the Dispatch explained the district was a political subdivision of the state, not the county. It said the joint powers agreement with the county was to lead the planning and research on the lagoon and its land as a basis for master planning the area. It said the program has been advocated by conservationists and was recommended by the county planning staff for a year before its adoption.

"How can co-operative agreements work if one co-operative agency is attempting to stamp out the other?" the newsletter asked. "If the program is to be torn asunder, what is to happen to the jointly approved study contracts already under way . . . (and) public funds already expended or committed . . . ?"

I na letter to the supervisors sent today, district president Gene W. McDaniel asked for a workshop meeting between commissioners and supervisors as soon as possible to "clarify our respective principles and aims" toward preserving and utilizing the lagoon.

The supervisors have a resolution on liquidation of the harbor district scheduled for their meeting Wednesday at Civic Center.

The newsletter will appear at approximately six-week intervals. The dispatch will report on plans and studies in the district for the lagoon and its surrounding land areas.

615 Die In Road Crashes Over Holiday

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

The nation's four day Memorial Day weekend traffic death toll climbed to a record 615 in the final hours of the holiday to surpass last year's record of 608. Final figures today, however, showed the toll remained below the number of deaths that had been predicted.

The National Safety Council had estimated that between 625 and 725 persons would die on the highways during the long holiday, which began at 6 p.m. Wednesday and ended at midnight local time yesterday. During a similar nonholiday period, the council said, 580 persons would die.

The death rate ranged from one-third to one-fifth below last year's in the early part of the 102-hour holiday period. But a sudden spurt as travelers hurried home pushed the death rate above last year's.

The final United Press International count at noon showed:

Traffic, 615; drownings, 150; planes, 15; miscellaneous, 87. Total: 867.

Novato Teen Is In Juvenile Hall On Drug Charges

A 16-year-old Novato boy, who smoked marijuana in front of his mother in the family living room, is in Juvenile Hall today on charges of possessing drugs and being beyond parental control.

Sheriff's deputies said the mother called them while her son was at Novato High School on Tuesday.

She said she told him to get the marijuana out of the house or she would call the police. He refused and, when she went to the telephone, twisted her arm until she dropped the receiver, the mother told police.

She also said her son had tried suicide in the past and expressed fears that he was using something more potent than marijuana, deputies said.

After they arrested the boy at school, officers searched his bedroom and reportedly found marijuana, methedrine and three hypodermic needles and syringes.

third years of the contract, and specialists and helpers would get 11 cents an hour the second and third year. A dental plan, improvements in group insurance and four weeks vacation after 20 years of service were also included in the contract.

"It is exactly the same package for which the San Francisco machinists settled," said Richards.

Thomas Bevan, business representative for Local 238, said the details of the contract released by Richards were correct, and are acceptable to the union.

He said the union struck because the companies would not agree to an optical-prescription drug benefit which would cost about $10 a month for each union member, and to a number of demands on working conditions made by the union.

"We want overtime assignments to be distributed equally among all job classifications," said Bevan. "We also are in dispute with the employers over job descriptions and classifications, and a number of other things, such as who woud pay for tools lost to fire and theft."

New Family Greeted By House Fire

San Rafael fireman battled a combination house and grass fire in strong winds Saturday night as a new family had an unfortuate welcome to San Rafael.

Fire destroyed the front of a home at 142 Maywood Drive and spread to about three acres of adjoining grass before it was extinguished.

The blaze struck at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Sauer, who had just moved in, firemen reported. The fire possibly was started by a discarded cigarette in one of the cartons of household furnishing on the front porch, which had not yet been moved into the house, firemen said. The fire started at 9 p.m.

Damage was estimated at $7,500, consisting of about $6,000 to the building and $1,500 to the contents.

The front porch and kitchen and front of the house were destroyed and an adjacent home at 142 Maywood Drive was scorched with damage there estimated at $50, firemen reported.

Four units and 26 men responded to the combination house and grass fire, which firemen fought more than two hours before it was put out.

Two California Escapers Caught On Ohio Turnpike

FREMONT, Ohio (UPI) — Ohio highway patrolmen Saturday captured two extremely dangerous mental patients who escaped last Sunday from the Atascadero State Hospital for the Criminally Insane in San Luis Obispo.

The patrol said the suspects were captured at a service plaza along the Ohio Turnpike near here. Patrolman D. R. Little spotted a stolen car parked in front of the service plaza and radioed for help.

Realizing innocent persons were inside the plaza, Little waited in his patrol car for the two men to come out of the restaurant. When the two suspects got in their car, five patrol cars converged and captured them without incident.

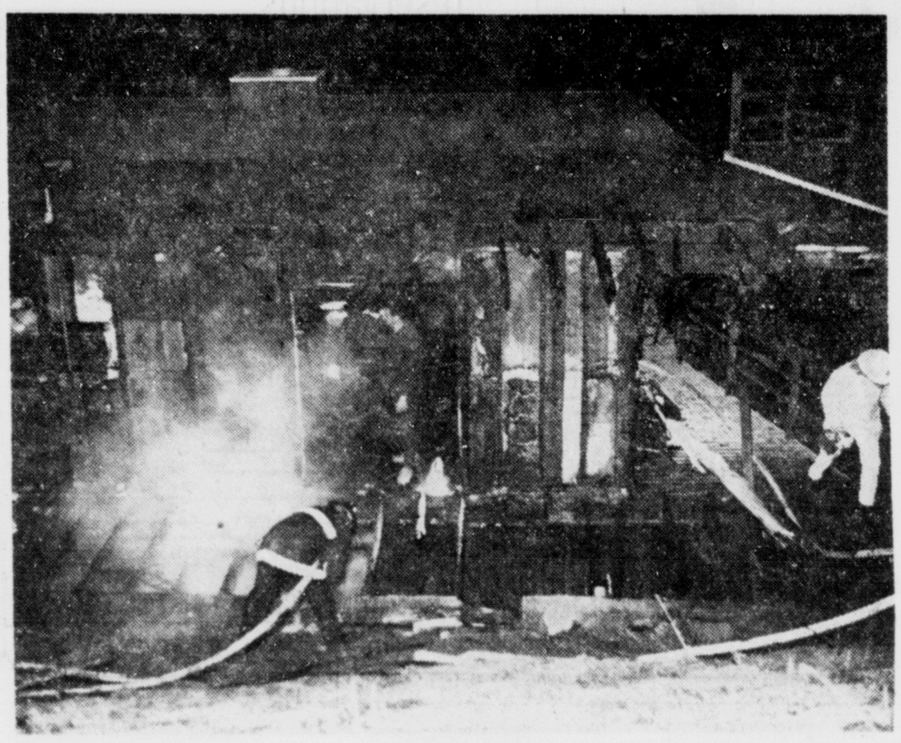
Inside the car, stolen Wednesday in Portland, Ore., were four loaded weapons, three pistols and a rifle. Patrolmen said the suspects were identified as Gerrard Gallant, 28, and George Quinlan, 25.

Restaurant Is Threat Target

A San Rafael restaurant was the victim of a bomb threat at the noon hour Friday.

Angello Camporelle of 2283 Fifth Street, San Rafael, employed at the Hickory Pit, 1701 Fourth Street, reported he received the bomb threat at 12:53 p.m. in a phone call.

The premises were checked by police but no bomb was found.



HOME BURNS — Homeowner Dale Sauer, who had just moved into his home at 142 Maywood Drive, stands in the doorway with Fire Capt. Robert Rogers as Fire Chief Vance Trivett (far right) crosses the last board of the burned deck. Unidentified fireman battles the faltering blaze in foreground.

Retired Couple Can Live On $4,200 A Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department says it takes nearly $4,200 a year for the average retired couple with a mortgage-free home to maintain a moderate standard of living in a large city.

And that doesn't include unusual medical expenses, the department said in a report released over the weekend. It said couples who rent spent about $200 more a year than those who maintain their own homes.

The study by the Bureau of Labor Statistics is based on a 1966 survey, updated to reflect the 4.7 per cent rise in general living costs since then.

The bureau arrived at an average figure of $4,049 and said the annual living costs vary widely according to the size of the city.

Mystery Bullet Kills A Golfer

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) —A bullet his wife described as "coming out of nowhere" killed William B. Stowers, 55, as the couple played golf yesterday.

Stowers, a Dallas sales representative for toy companies, was shot at the Las Colinas Country Club in suburban Irving as he and his wife, Edith, reached the fourth tee. He died two hours later of a bullet wound in the chest.

Police Lt. J..W Johnson said the shot apparently came from a wooded area beside the golf course. Officers reported four young men found in that vicinity were held for questioning and two pistols and a rifle were seized.

The giant anteater of South America can eat 30,000 termites or ants in one day.

Pair Arrested On Drug Probe

Two San Rafael men picked a dangerous place to share a pipe of pot yesterday afternoon, sheriff's deputies said.

An officer said he saw Russell Evan Fabian, 26, of 830 B Street, and Daniel John McDowell, 20, of 355 Canal Street, passing the pipe back and forth on the steps of the Courthouse, above the Marin County jail.

He sniffed the pipe, detected marijuana and booked the men for suspicion of possessing marijuana and narcotics paraphernalia. They were released without bail and told to report to Municipal Court Wednesday at 2 p.m.

Re-elect Assemblyman BILL BAGLEY

New Work Approach Urged In Employment

College degrees and formal credentials are over-emphasized and work experience ignored in the present system of employment in Marin and the rest of the country, Dr. Arthur Pearl of the University of Oregon told a group of Marin County officials this morning.

Dr. Pearl, hired by the county for $600 for a three-day seminar in Marin, met this morning in the Civic Center with about 25 officials from various county departments, including the Human Rights Commission.

Austin J. Thompson, director of the human rights department, was chairman at the meeting. Thompson said Dr. Pearl has been commissioned to lay out a new careers program for Marin.

The whole system of employment, based on credentialism, must be changed, declared Dr. Pearl. "At present you get eight years of irrelevancy (elementary school) to get four more years of irrelevancy. This discriminates against the poor people."

He said the alternative must be the new careers program, which would open up jobs, not on the basis of formal degrees and credentials but on the basis of work experience.

The Oregon professor said the War on Poverty merely opened up new opportunities for the middle class to latch on to lucrative positions, but leaves the poor still chained to poverty.

RIPS HIRING

Dr. Pearl called for a complete reorganization of the hiring system so that those without formal education can become teachers' aides, for example and work their way up in the teaching profession through experience and on-the-job training, winning college credits while they work.

If two vacancies occur in "professional" jobs in county employment, one could be replaced by a professional with the proper degrees and the other by a non-professional, who would be allowed to learn on the job, said Dr. Pearl.

"The problem is, how to open up opportunities in the county to those now denied the opportunities," said Dr. Pearl.

"What we have been calling standards — college credits — is the lazy way. We're got to give credit for experience and life work."

Ernest N. Kettenhofen, chairman of the board of supervisors, sent a letter to Dr. Pearl, expressing regrets he could not attend this morning's meeting. "I feel there is a great deal of loss of effectiveness and efficiency under the present manpower organizations," wrote Kettenhofen.

CUTS PROPOSED

"It is my understanding that there are over 20 agencies involved in manpower programs available to us in Marin. This is simply too many cooks stirring the same pot. I am proposing that we coordinate and consolidate all manpower program under one administration under the supervision of the county," said Kettenhofen.

"More effort and dollars should be expended in a one-step job training and employment center, and less on multiple administrative expense to the taxpayers." Kettenhofen said he hoped Dr. Pearl can come up with recommendations which would accomplish those objectives.

$2,200 In Goods Burglarized From Hall Of Justice

Construction materials, valued at $2,200, were burglarized from the Hall of Justice construction project at the Marin Civic Center over the Memorial Day holiday, sheriff's deputies reported today.

Joseph McGannon, foreman for Collins Electric, reported that 300 feet of cable, valued at $400, were taken from the third deck of the Hall of Justice.

Coin Banks With $110 Are Stolen

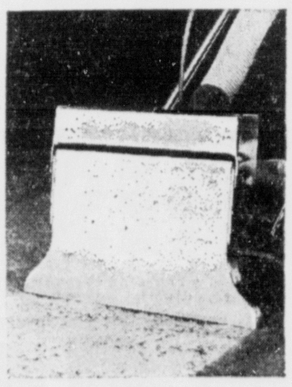
A BETTER WAY TO CLEAN CARPETS

Deep Steam Wall-to-Wall Carpet Cleaning

This unique new process cleans deep and yet treats the finest carpet with loving care . . .



DEEP STEAM removes soil from both the pile of the carpet and the carpet backing. Since no brushes or scrubbing action is used, there is no distortion of the carpet pile. The powerful extraction action of the DEEP STEAM process lifts matted pile to "like new" appearance. The need for frequent professional cleaning is reduced because deeply embedded soil is removed and leaves no residue in the carpet fibers to collect dirt. During this cleaning operation every fiber is coated with a SOIL RETARDANT to keep your carpet clean longer.

The old equipment with brushes, using liquid detergent or powder, scrubs the soil DEEPER into the fabric . . . and even with the help of a vacuum fails to remove soil or residue. The detergent or powder left in the fabric soon attracts more soil and it is not long before the soil works back to the surface. Soon your carpets appear more soiled than before!

The advantages of DEEP STEAM CLEANING are obvious!

THIS DEEP STEAM PROCESS IS GUARANTEED TO BE COMPLETELY SAFE ON ALL FABRICS UNDER ALL CONDITIONS!

Large carpet and carpet fiber manufacturers and trade associations that have witnessed or conducted tests on "DEEP STEAM" say this:

". . . does remove a very high percentage of the loose soil compared to present practices."

"This machine does a very effective cleaning on heavily soiled carpet with a minimum of texture change."

"It does an excellent job that is far superior than anything that could previously be done by conventional on-location cleaning methods."

". . . witnessed a demonstration in the Institute's offices where they cleaned some wool carpet . . . It was extremely soiled to the point where regular on-location cleaning would not touch it. With this process, it came out beautifully."

"We would certainly go on record as recommending . . . Deep Steam . . . as a recommended method for the cleaning of carpeting."

COUNTY SERVICES CHANGE PROPOSED

Administrator Suggests Novato Test For Regional, Multi-Department Services

A new concept of providing varied community services through a coordinated professional team based in communities where the need exist is proposed by the county administrator.

Assistant County Administrator Thomas F. Campanella will present the proposal to the Marin County Board of Supervisors Wednesday morning.

This is the concept: Under a director of community based orgainization, staff from the probation, mental health, public social services, public health and medical departments will provide servies to people within a limited geographical area.

"We propose that we start in the Novato area and if the board considers the experience successful, the service could be established in other locales," Campanella explained in a letter to come before the supervisors.

Because services are now divided among the various departments, coordination sometimes results in both overlap and gaps in service, said Campanella.

"We believe that the services needed by the people can best be provided by professional teams in a merged operation through a community based organization located near their homes."

The cost of this new program is estimated at $10,000 to include a director, clerk, receptionist, rent and utilities.

SCIENCE FICTION PROBLEM

Is Deep Freeze Patient Entitled To Pensions?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Bureaucrats in the Social Security Administration are puzzling over what surely must be their ultimate nightmare — the immortal beneficiary — and what's more they think they have an answer to how this would bend the rules.

The question, now in the science fiction category but perhaps a real concern of the future, is whether a person in deepfreeze "suspended animation" is entitled to continue getting Social Security benefits.

Theory holds that a person suffering from a now incurable disease might choose to be deep frozen before the illness claims him, to be revived 10 years or so when medical science has effected a cure.

Certain technical details remain to be worked out — so far as is known no human has successfully undergone the process although animals have survived very short periods of freezing—but reputable scientists see nothing insurmountable in principle to perfecting the technique.

Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., said he received the Social Security question from a retired Detroit man, whom he declined to identify.

Griffin referred the question to Arthur E. Hess, acting commissioner of the Social Security Administration.

After considerable time, the administration advised Griffin that it will continue to pay benefits so long as competent medical evidence shows the person to be alive.

Hess pointed out that old age benefits end with the month preceding the month in which the beneficiary dies.

"Thus," he said, "the principal question would seem to be whether the frozen individual continues to be alive."

Thief With Rock Gets Store Loot

A burglar looted the St. Vincent De Paul store, 508 Irwin Street, after hurling a rock through a window Friday, police reported.

Stolen items included 12 wrist watches, a small black cash box containing $40 in cash and coins, and 12 eyeglass frames.

Curtis J. Baldwin, manager, said the theif took the watches from a display case, the cash box from an office filing cabinet, and the eyeglasses from a second display counter, then left by a rear door.

Bolinas Harbor Fate Before County Board

A resolution asking for dissolution of the Bolinas Harbor District will be considered by the Marin County Board of Supervisors at its regular meeting Wednesday morning.

Because tomorrow is election day and most county offices will be closed, the supervisors set this week's meeting over one day. A workshop session is set for 9 a.m. with several department heads, followed by the regular session at 10:30 a.m.

Last week, Supervisors Peter H. Behr and Thomas T. Storer asked for a resolution to dissolve the Bolinas Harbor District so that the county would have direct control over Bolinas Lagoon and keep it in its natural state as much as possible. Meanwhile, a state legislative committee has approved a bill introduced by Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, to extend the life of the district board.

The Bolinas Harbor District has applied for a Department of the Army permit to dredge about 60,000 cubic yards of mud from the lagoon. The Army Corps of Engineers has issued notices saying that objections must be filed by June 23. The proposed dredging of Bolinas Lagoon will also come before the supervisors.

In the afternoon, a hearing will be held for a proposed widening of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard from Laurel Grove Avenue to Ash Avenue in Kentfield. The hearing is required before the county can apply for federal aid for secondary roads.

This will be followed by a hearing on the need for garbage franchises in unincorporated areas.

At 4 p.m., the supervisors will hear from any residents along McClay Road, Novato, who may have evidence that a dog kennel in the 700 block of McClay Road is a public nuisance. Last week, kennel operator Arthur M. Newman of San Rafael got a ruling from the county counsel that his kennel operation is legal.

Alioto To Meet On Missile Base

San Francisco Mayor Joseph L. Alioto will meet with Defense Department officials Friday to discuss possible Bay Area sites for a new $50 million anti-missile missile base. The meeting will be held at 10 a.m. in the mayor's office.

Alioto first raised the possibility that Marin County could be one of the areas presently under consideration by the federal government at a luncheon meeting with the Marin supervisors last Wednesday.

At that time, Supervisors Thomas T. Storer and William A. Gnoss suggested that the Tomales area and North Marin would be suitable locations for the missile base.

Bike Riders Get Span Board Nod For Weekends

Bicycle enthusiasts — hoping to establish a cycling path from Lake Merced and Golden Gate Park in San Francisco to Tiburon — had a major obstacle removed Friday, at least for weekend riding.

Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District directors, accepting their security committee's recommendation, approved weekend cycling on the west walkway of the span after equipment crowding the walkway is removed. The district board president, John E. Nelson, said it will be several months before this can be accomplished, because of an inspection under way.

The campaign for the bicycle route, initiated and led by George T. Draper of Tiburon, has been carried to the city councils of Sausalito, Mill Valley and Tiburon, through whose territories it would run, as well as to the San Francisco Board of Supervisors. All have lent sympathetic ears.

Golden Gate Bridge has been a stumbling block for cyclists, who presently must walk their bicycles across the east walk open to pedestrians.

Afghan Best Puppy At Club Fun Match

An Afghan hound puppy from Novato, a Doberman pinscher from San Francisco and a Shetland sheepdog from San Jose came out tops among the 935 dogs competing yesterday at the Sir Francis Drake Kennel Club's annual fun match for conformation and obedience dogs, in San Rafael.

Showing the best puppy in show was Joseph V. Brusati, of 70 Half Moon Road, Novato. He took the trophy with a honey-colored Afghan puppy, judged best in match by Mrs. Lois Nurmi of Redwood City. Best adult dog in the show was the black Doberman owned and handled by Marjorie Brooks of San Francisco, a former Marin County resident.

Highest scoring dog in the obedience competition was the Shetland, owned and handled by Mrs. Ted Lynch of San Jose. The smart little tri-colored dog scored 199 of a possible 200 points in Novice A competition, judged by Howard Hooper of Daly City.

The match drew the largest entry ever, to the grounds of St. Peter Chanel Seminary, according to match chairman Mrs. Helyne Michael of 5059 Paradise Drive, Tiburon. It served as a dress rehearsal for the Sir Francis Drake club's annual championship show, to be held this year at Peacock Gap, with an expected entry of 2,000-plus dogs.

Last-Minute Campaign Charges Flood Marin

A rash of last-minute campaign charges, both in printed handouts and telephone calls, was reported today as Marin's primary campaign came down to the wire.

In two supervisorial districts, second and fourth, candidates seeking to unseat incumbents resorted to last-minute appeals — too late for replies before tomorrow's balloting.

In the fourth district, party politics was injected with an appeal to Republican voters to vote for Louis H. Baar, a Republican, against incumbent Thomas T. Storer, a Democrat. The supervisorial contests are traditionally non-partisan and only rarely is partisan politics injected into them.

On the other hand, Baar charged a concerted campaign at removal of his sibns throughout the district, as has Storer.

In the second district, a rash of mailers on behalf of Peter R. Arrigona Jr. went to voters, with separate mimeographed appeals on local issues to voters in each of several neighborhoods.

The mailers cited the record of Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen in a manner Kettenhofen charged was deceptive and misleading. As an example, he cited a charge that on his motion, the density factor in the West Marin Master Plan was raised "from a maximum of .88 units per acre" to "a minimum of 1.15 units per acre." Both the .88 and the 1.15 were "maximums" by terms of the change.

The last-minute Arrigoni flyers also referred to Arrigoni's "record" on matters on which he is not on record except in campaign pronouncements.

The "Code of Fair Campaign Practices" which candidates generally say they will follow includes: "I shall condemn the use of campaign material of any sort which misrepresents, distorts, or otherwise falsifies the facts regarding any candidate."

Draft Age Defendant Hits At Law

BOSTON (UPI)—The only draft age defendant in the antiwar conspiracy trial of Dr. Benjamin Spock and four others testified today the draft laws were unconstituional because they forced men to fight in a war they considered unjust.

Michael Ferber, 23, of Buffalo, N.Y., a Harvard graduate student, also told the 12-man U.S. District Court jury he never was "in touch with" any of his alleged co-conspirators prior to a rally last Oct. 16 at the Arlington Street Church here.

The rally led in part to the indictment of all five men.

Ferber, sitting with legs crossed on the witness stand, told the crowded courtroom he helped organize the Boston rally which turned into a demonstration where draft cards were burned. He said it was planned prior to the demonstartion to turn the draft cards in to the Department of Justice on Oct. 20.

Under examination by his lawyer, William P. Homans, the bespectacled youth said, "No man could be asked to fight in a war that he deemed to be unjust conscientiously. Thus, a draft that made a man do that must be unconstitutional."

The 65-year-old Spock sat with the other defendants in a row of chairs behind a brass railing and listened intently to the proceedings. Judge Francis J. W. Ford Jr. has ruled the legality of the Vietnam War irrelevant to the case.

Others indicted with the renowned pediatrician and Ferber were the Rev. William Sloane Coffin Jr., 43, Yale University chaplain and a former member of the Central Intelligence Agency; Mitchell Goodman, 44, an author and teacher from Temple, Maine and New York, and Marcus Raskin, 34, co-director of the Institute for Policy Studies in Washington and former staff member of the National Security Council.

PG&E Power Line Draws No Foes Yet

No objections have been received to a Pacific Gas and Electric Co. proposal to build an overhead transmission line across the Petaluma River in Marin, it was reported today by the Army Corps of Engineers.

The deadline for submitting written objections was today.

Plans call for structural steel towers carrying the 212-foot-high power line to stretch 35 miles from the company's switching center in Cordelia, Solano County, through Napa and Sonoma counties to the switching center in Ignacio. The power originates either at Sierra dams or East Bay steam plants, depending on the time of year.

The corps has jurisdiction because the lines will cross the Petaluma and Napa rivers.

The $2 to $3 million project will start next year, according to Leonard O. Robertson, Marin district electric superintendent for PG&E and is expected to meet power demands until 1980.

A spokesman for the corps district office in San Francisco said approval will be granted in 10 days if no objections postmarked before today are received by then.

Driver Is Injured, Cited In Collision

A San Anselmo man received minor injuries and was cited for failing to yield the right of way after an accident at 12:30 p.m. yesterday at the intersection of San Anselmo and San Rafael avenues in San Anselmo.

John Francis Cavanaugh Jr., 49, of 427 Laurel Avenue was treated at Marin General Hospital for a cut lip. Police said he struck a car driven by Beverly Jean Butcher, 40, of 135 Manor Road, Fairfax, while making a left turn.

Session Reset

The North Marin County Water District board will meet at 8 p.m. June 11 in the water district office, 999 Atherton Avenue. The board meeting scheduled for 8 p.m. tomorrow has been canceled for lack of a quorum.

Marked Money Leads To Extortion Arrest

Mill Valley police said yesterday they arrested a man charged with extortion through the use of marked bills, a police trap and help from the supposed victim.

Police Wednesday arrested Daniel Lee Lewis, 22, of Alameda, shortly after he was handed $200 in marked bills in the Safeway parking lot on Mill Avenue.

He has been charged with extortion and is being held in jail in lieu of $3,125 bail to enter a plea this afternoon in Marin Municipal Court.

Police said Lewis, also known as Rick Herd, met Maurice Hervert Wells of 156 Forence Avenue, Mill Valley, recently in San Francisco, and was hired to do some painting at Wells' home.

According to police, Lewis asked to go along when Wells went to Lake Tahoe last weekend. Saturday night, police reported, Lewis pocketed $100 Wells had won and demanded more money, threatening to go to Wells' employer and make "charges of a moral nature" against him.

Wells went to the police Monday. After some false starts, police and Wells set up a meeting with Lewis and Wells handed him the marked bills. Lewis reportedly signed a paper, now being held as evidence, when the exchange was made.

Shortly after the money was passed, police pulled Lewis' car over and he was arrested with the bills in his possession.

Marshall Field, when he was building his department store business in Chicago, advised friends never borrow, never give a mortgage and never buy stocks on margins.

Redwood Wins Top Scene Honors

Redwood High School's production of a scene from "Othello" won first prize in the Shakespearian scene contest for high school students held Friday and Saturday at College of Marin. Joseph Wadlington directed the scene.

Both won plaques, bound volumes of Shakespeare's works, scholarships to the Marin Shakespeare Festival's summer scene works, scholarships to the Marin Shakespeare Festival's summer scene workshop and season tickets to the Marin festival.

Honorable mentions went to Cynthia Strauss of San Domenico School for Girls, Michael Charles of Lowell High School, David Freedman of Sir Francis Drake High School and Don Rosenberg of San Rafael High School.

The best actress and actor and honorable mention winners also were awarded auditions with the American Conservatory Theater in San Francisco.

Judges were Ed Hastins, executive director of ACT; Karl Barron, Independent-Journal drama critic, and Harvey Susser, member of College of Marin drama department.

Awards were presented by John Talt, educational director for the Marin Shakespeare Festival.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

In Quiet Of Voting Booth, Marinites Will Decide

"The tumult and the shouting dies" tomorrow, and, in the quiet and privacy of the voting booths, 88,262 registered voters in Marin — or as many of them as go to the polls — decide the fates of local candidates and issues. They add their quiet voices, too, to the decisions on candidates for Congress, Senate, and President of the United States.

John H. Musser, assistant county clerk for elections, has predicted that at least 75 per cent of the 88,262 will cast ballots. Based on past Marin performance in presidential election years, his prediction appears conservative.

ON SOME of the candidates and local issues, the Independent-Journal has made recommendations. On others, it has merely assessed the candidates, or attempted to explain the issues. These recommendations, assessments and explanations have been presented to assist undecided voters in making up their minds. We have not expected to change minds already made up.

In endorsing candidates, we have not suggested that all virtue lies with one aspirant and only evil or incompetence with another. This is never the case. Factors that weigh heavily with one voter naturally may not be important to another. And Marin voters are fortunate this year in having many fine candidates seeking nomination or election in the primary.

All the ballot measures, aside from two state bond measures, are local in nature — in San Anselmo School District, in Fairfax, in Sausalito School District, in Marinwood Community Services District, in Tomales High School District.

None is a black-and-white, all-good-all-bad issue. We doubt that any issue ever placed on the ballot could be of such nature.

In each of the communities with local ballot measures, the decision must be a community decision, made by the majority of those voting.

DURING THE CAMPAIGN, there is a tendency toward exaggeration, passion, intractability. There is a tendency for the advocates of a measure or a candidate to label those who disagree with them as misinformed, foolish, blind, etc.

In the voting booth, passion should be cast off. The voter should mark the ballot with care, asking himself conscientiously whether the vote he is casting is in the best interests of the community, the county, the state, the nation.

We hope all the voters are informed. We wish they had all attended the various candidates' nights and other discussions held throughout the county during the campaign — although we know that only relatively few of them did. We hope they have all followed the news stories over the past weeks to keep track of what candidates said and did, and of the discussions of the issues.

BUT WHETHER OR NOT all those who cast ballots have taken the trouble to inform themselves, what a majority of them say by their votes is the decision that must stand. The majority rules, and its decision must not be defied, decried nor circumvented. That is the essential rule of the game we call democracy.

Polls will be open throughout the county until 8 p.m. tomorrow. Be sure to vote! And vote carefully and conscientiously!

Raccoons—Music Lovers?

The notion that raccoons enjoy music may strike some people as being a bit far-fetched, as it did us at first. But the more we consider the idea, the less fantastic it seems.

Bear in mind that, according to laboratory tests, raccoons have the keenest sense of hearing of any North American wild animal. And that they are also among the most intelligent. . . . These are important ingredients in music appreciation.

Reports from nature hobbyists confirm that some raccoons really do enjoy music. They appear out of the woods when it is turned on in the evening and leave when it is turned off.

Appparently some raccoons are quite discriminating. We read of one old boy who was enraptured with Beethoven's Ninth Symphony. No, we are not kidding.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Likelihood Grows That State Will Get No 'Tax Relief' Law

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — It's conceivable that the state of confusion now surrounding property tax relief means that the state Legislature will wind up this year without any property tax relief bill at all, thereby reverting the state sales tax to four and one-half per cent as of July 2.

Although the Assembly has passed a property tax relief bill, the measure is not acceptable to the administration of Gov. Ronald Ragan, and may not be acceptable to the state Senate.

THE BILL PASSED by the Assembly at behest of Speaker Jesse Unruh, D-Los Angeles, is now tied to a constitutional amendment, which provides, among other things, that property assessments may be made on different ratios, one for business property and an another for residential property.

This is objectionable to the administration.

In addition to this objection, there is some strong sentiment in the Senate for reverting the sales tax back to the four and one-half per cent level — which is also objectionable to the administration, which advocates in addition to property tax relief, a break for the income taxpayer in the middle brackets.

Some Senate objection to property tax relief has arisen on the theory that what the state could do would be negated because of the authority of supervisors and governing bodies of California's cities to raise taxes.

Added to the factors which may preclude adoption of the property tax relief bill at this session is the bickering between Republicans and Democrats and the division of the two houses of the Legislature. Democrats control the assembly, but it is doubtful whether the Republicans actually control the Senate, even with a vote to spare in case of a tie.

IT IS VIRTUALLY a certainty the Senate will amend the Assembly's measure. And the bill has to be acceptable to the governor before it can become law.

It would appear that Unruh's strategy on amendment of the measure to make it unacceptable to both the Senate and the Administration is directed primarily to embarassment of the Republicans, as property tax relief was one of the planks in the Reagan campaign.

As far as the individual taxpayer is concerned, the entire controversy is much ado about a very small amount of money, but the issue has its value politically.

Control Of Public Gatherings Needed

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Your headline and article today (May 27) on the drug raid at a Muir Beach rock dance dramatizes the urgent need for the citizens of Marin to get some satisfactory answers to some obvious questions. Demonstrably, the police are alert and efficient enough to discover and even arrest some of those who engage in illegal traffic in drugs. But surely no one could seriously pretend that the operators of the establishment were unaware of what was going on or had no responsibility for orderly and legal conduct on their premises.

The citizens of this county are entitled to know why any such operations are allowed to continue. If there are no county ordinances or licensing requirements which can effectively control such gatherings, then our supervisors (or, if necessary, their replacements) have an urgent responsibility to provide such controls now. The police are seriously hampered in their work when public apathy and legal loopholes enable those who prey on youth to look on the whole sordid business as a very profitable "Game."

A Little Kindness Goes A Long Way

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Recently the Bret Harte area was a mass of confusion. Maggiora and Ghilotti and crew were laying drainage pipe. The children were constantly watching all the activity of these men and machines. To us adults, it was one big inconvenience.

Last Saturday, however, Maggiora and Ghilotti made up for all that inconvenience. They gave free ice cream to all children in Bret Harte (large and small). Their way of saying "thanks for being so patient with us."

To my knowledge, this is a "first." I'm sure the children in this area won't forget the generosity and thoughfulness of Maggiora and Ghilotti. May I say "thank you" on behalf of many of us here in Bret Harte. "A little kindness goes a long way."

We Must Cease Paying Tribute

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I am greatly disturbed over the excessive and growing use of the word "demand." It is not only insolent, as used, but it implies coercive action if the demand is not met. Demands are made of our governing bodies . . . our universities, high schools and grade schools. They are made by all dissident groups, including unions, college students, instructors, athletes, minorities to mention a few. Acceding to these demands leads to further and greater demands, just as it does in the case of blackmail . . .

We listen to demands and we pay tribute. We do have a number of legislators who are well endowed with both sufficient wisdom and fortitude. However too many of our legislators and administrators are not endowed with both of these attributes. That is why we pay tribute.

I suggest that all governing bodies and administrators should make it well known that henceforth, no demand will be tolerated, but all reasonable requests, when appropriately presented, will be given due consideration.

Oregon Did Not Swallow Reagan

Editor, Independent-Journal:

It is indeed gratifying to note that the voters of Oregon did not swallow the same pill we Californians did.

Ridiculous denials of presidential aspirations by our governor did not fool our northern neighbors, nor did his record impress them.

The selfish interests who expended funds to promote this debonaire pseudo politician did a dis-service to all concerned.

In these critical times our county desperately needs courageous, trained leadership, not evasive persons who act for behind-the-scenes monopolies.

Impartial View Of Column Comment

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Bryce Anderson's column of May 23 which appears to be an attempt at an "objective" view of the evils of "instant tenure" smells core rotten! As the measure stands, only four points need be kept in mind; and the language of those points need not be obscure or twisted.

1. Instant tenure is still probationary.

2. Had injustices never occurred, the measure would neither have been requested nor enacted.

3. The right to have a legal hearing places no greater burden on the accuser than on the accused.

4. If the person responsible for insuring an effective teaching staff can produce concrete evidence and just cause, he can, even under the difficulty, remove a poor teacher.

Columnist Anderson should be grateful for such safeguards, for were I his teacher in journalism and May 23 an overall sample of his clarity of thought and organization of material as well as depth of research, he wouldn't have a job; and perhaps, that would be an injustice.

Kennedy's Dilemma: How To Win Without Splitting His Party

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON — Even before the defeat in Oregon, Bobby Kennedy's managers were casting about with something like desperation for a strategy to bridge the gap between the last of the primaries and the nominating convention at the end of August. They know that in that interval of hardly more than six weeks they must break Vice President Hubert Humphrey's hold on a massive collection of delegates, probably sufficient to give him the prize.

In the ardent front ranks of the Kennedy brigade a proposal was put forward that was a measure of the urgency of their need. In July Kennedy was to go from city to city in the states where Humphrey had accumulated delegate strength. He would talk to big, impassioned street crowds, demonstrations, rallies. The crowds would be put together with the organization skill that the Kennedy managers have demonstrated in the primaries.

This show of strength would awe the mayors, the governors, the political backroom boys who had come down on the safe side for Humphrey as a unity candidate. Mr. Mayor, you can see what a following our man has. Are you going to reject all this at the convention in Chicago? That would be the line shaking the conviction of the Humphrey following. And if the mayor or the governor did not get the message, then the delegates would bow before this demonstration of political muscle.

CALMER HEADS prevailed and the proposal was rejected even before it was passed on by the candidates. Two obvious dangers — dangers that have plagued the Kennedy campaign to date and threatening the party in November — ruled it out.

First, of course, was the threat the demonstrations would get out of hand. The candidate might be unable to control his impassioned followers. This has been a hazard in Kennedy's primary tours with the wild enthusiasm he engenders in the street crowds, alienating older and more conservative voters as they see on television the clutching hands tearing at his person.

Second, Kennedy can divide the party in such a way that the nomination will be of relatively little value come the November election. No one can dispute the intensity of his following among minorities and in particular among Negroes.

Turning these minorities against Humphrey, encouraging the belief that in frustrating Kennedy the vice president is a doubtful ally, plays the game of the Republican opposition. Yet how to stop Humphrey short of such a tactic is the Kennedy dilemma.

THE KENNEDY managers are saying that California is a sure thing, and a big win.

But, as evidence of the straws at which Kennedy's managers are clutching, the New York primary election of district delegates on June 18 is being built up into a contest. A rash statement out of the Humphrey camp claimed up to 50 per cent of New York's delegates for the vice president. That is seized on by Kennedy's managers with the promise that the claim will be proved wholly false.

New York, it must be remembered, is Kennedy's home state, if only by adoption. Should Humphrey take a third or even a fourth of the elected delegates, Senator Kennedy could hardly count the result a triumph.

The Democrats have always been a far scrappier lot than the Republicans. Whether they can unite after their nominee is chosen at Chicago is the biggest of all the imponderables in this uncertain year.

Manpower Training Act Accomplishments Doubted

By ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON — The House Education and Labor Committee is preparing to report out a bill for a two-year extension of the Manpower Development Training Act amid growing congressional demands for a realistic accounting of just what has been accomplished under this law on which more than $500 million has been spent since 1962.

Both Democrats and Republicans are expressing critical bewilderment over an extraordinary paradox:

On one hand, the Johnson administration wants $415 million to continue the MDTA program to train hard-core unemployed and other jobless in high density population areas in the fiscal year starting July 1. In the expiring fiscal year, $385 million was spent for this purpose.

Yet, in spite of the more than one-half billion dollars voted by Congress for MDTA in the past six years, some 948,000 jobs are available in high density areas for trained workers. In other words, the jobs are there but not the skilled labor.

THAT'S WHY the Democratic and Republican legislators are sharply asking, "How come? How do you explain spending more than $500 million to train workers and yet are unable to fill nearly one million vacancies for skilled workers? Just where and how has all this money been spent?"

Other than self-lauding Labor Department press handouts and claims, there are no authoritative reports and statistics. Since MDTA's establishment in 1962, it has been totally unsupervised and unchecked.

Repeated congressional demands for a thorough examination have been rebuffed by both the administration and Rep. Carl Perkins, D-Ky., chairman of the Education and Labor Committee. He has similarly blocked efforts to dig into the bumbling and scandal-wracked affairs of the long controversial multi-billion-dollar anti-poverty (OES) program.

Aiding this covert policy of thwarting a searching inquiry is the fact that MDTA is virtually unknown to the public generally.

But while this measure has made no headlines, MDTA faces a storm of caustic challenges and strictures when the issue is considered by the full House.

Illustrative is evidence in the hands of Rep. William Scherle, R-Iowa, that $4,518 of MDTA funds were "funneled into the Iowa Department of Public Safety for an on-the-job training program that existed only on paper." That was the finding of the state auditor who investigated the matter.

THAT LOUDLY fanfared "right to know" law passed by Congress last year is being flagrantly violated by the Defense Department.

Pentagon authorities are adamantly refusing to release information about the type and amount of weapons, munitions and other supplies Russia is giving to North Vietnam.

The Pentagon's high-handed secrecy is as absurd as it is illegal.

As Sen. Karl Mundt, R-S.D., a ranking member of the Appropriations and Foreign Relations Committees, caustically points out, "The Russians know what they are supplying their fellow Communists in Vietnam, and the latter know what they are getting from the Soviet. The only people who don't know are Americans, who have a vital stake in this information."

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

IT WAS IN A SALOON in Dublin, overlooking the River Liffey, that a broth of a lad, obviously tipsy, objected violently when the barkeep would serve him no more. "I'll have you know," he hollered, "that I'm the featherweight champion of the Emerald Isle."

"Are you now?" replied the barkeep grimly. "Well, one more peep out of you, me lad, and out you go — feathers and all!"

A Moscow apartment dweller, after hearing a government (what else?) broadcast on his radio, phoned the station to inquire, "Is it true that in front of the Lenin Memorial on Red Squre they're giving away automobiles absolutely free?"

"Assuredly yes," enthused the broadcasting official, "but let's be sure we have the details straight. One, it isn't at Red Square but back of the garbage dump. Two, the dump isn't in Moscow but in Odessa. And three, it isn't automobiles that are being given away, but bicycles that are being stolen."

Transit Directors Impatient But Kashin Has Specific Plan

Disgruntled members of the Marin County Transit District Board have been telling Gen. Mgr. Seymour Kashin to get busy on a bus transit system and come up with something specific.

Their impatience is understandable, in view of the costly studies that have been piled up long before Kashin arrived on the scene.

Kashin is the first to agree. "Enough studies have already been made to fill a library shelf," says the transit manager. "The cost of these adds up to nearly $2 million. What we want to do is to use the information already developed at great expense for Marin's immediate benefit."

On the need for some specific bus transit proposal, Kashin agrees completely with the transit district board.

WHAT SEEMS to bother the transit directors is the size of the 1968-69 budget which Kashin is asking — $649,555. The directors want the district to come up with something concrete to show for that kind of money.

That's what Kashin proposes to do in his 1968-69 work program.

"Routes, terminals, vehicles, fares, patronage and expected revenues are the kinds of information which will be developed by the work program," says Kashin. "This information must be developed by the district if federal and local funds are to be obtained to help the district start a transit service."

The budget total is also a bit misleading. The $649,555 being asked for the new fiscal year does not mean that the entire amount will be spent next year. Far from it.

As Kashin figures it, the entire operation cost for 1968-69 is about $127,000, including salaries for an expanded staff and office expenses. Of this amount, $15,000 has already been authorized by the transit board for a water transportation feasibility study, matching the $30,000 put up by San Francisco.

This leaves about $522,000 in reserve, untouched. This reserve would be used only when the transit board decides to go into bus or bus-ferry operation.

WE AGREE with the transit manager's reasoning that a specific design for a bus system must be developed before the district can go before another agency like the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District and ask it to kick in some money.

Under Kashin's proposal, the transit directors will be getting concrete proposals — costs, the type of rolling stock, where they will run, how much revenue, and how a bus system might tie in with ferries — during the coming fiscal year.

And this can be done, under Kashin's proposal, with about $127,000, not the entire $649,555. The bulk of that — over a half million — would be hald as ready reserve to be put to york only when the buses and/or ferries are ready to move.

In other words, Kashin has made specific promises to produce. And if he doesn't, he will be held to account. Sounds like a fair proposal.

ART BUCHWALD

Do You Suppose It's Sinister Plot To Keep Us Buying New Clothes?

WASHINGTON — There are so many different kinds of clothes made of miracle fibers that one is hard put to remember the instructions on how to launder and clean them. Each new piece of clothing now comes with a long list of instructions explaining how the garment must be treated, plus many warnings about what will happen if the instructions aren't adhered to.

The other day I came home to find my wife washing my 45 per cent alphazate, 25 per cent prymnon, 30 per cent cotton turtleneck sweater. I was horrified to discover that she was washing it the wrong way. "You're supposed to wash that sweater in cold lamb's milk and you're washing it in warm lamb's milk."

"No," she said. "I read the instructions quite clearly. You wash it in warm lamb's milk and then you rinse it in cold."

"You're thinking about my 100 per cent all-kozel undershirts. My turtleneck sweater is just the opposite."

I WAS RIGHT, because as were talking the turtleneck started to disintegrate before my eyes.

"That sweater cost me $12," I cried.

"I can't keep all of these washing instructions straight," she said angrily.

"What are you going to do now?"

"I'm going to wash your 89½ per cent rogiflex wash 'n' dry shirt."

"You have to use fresh essence of lime, mixed with distilled underground spring water," I reminded her.

"Are you sure? It seems to me that there was a warning attached to the shirt that if you use distilled underground spring water the colors would run."

"That only applies to shirts with French cuffs," I told her.

"Of course," she said. "What an idiot I am for not keeping it straight!"

I STARTED to put on a clean pair of socks. My large toe went right through the sock.

"What the blazes did you do with my socks?"

"Nothing. I put them in the washing machine, added virgin calf detergent, two tablespoons of chlorine and a cup of epsom salts, according to the instructions sewn in the sock."

I read the instructions. "Did you set the washing machine at 7.5 revolutions per minute?"

"I tried to, but I had to hold it manually and my arm got tired," she confessed. "I guess at the end the machine was going 9 revolutions per minute. But I figured it didn't matter."

I threw down the socks in disgust. "If it didn't matter, why would they sew the instructions into the sock?"

SHE STARTED TO SOB. I felt bad and said, "It's all right. I'll buy another pair of socks that can be washed at 9 revolutions per minute. Well, I think I'll put on my 100 per cent stay-pressed-forever seersucker suit."

I put on the pants. As I was inserting the belt, the legs, just below my hips, collapsed and fell to my ankles.

"What did you do to my suit?" I yelled.

"I had it dry-cleaned."

"You're not supposed to dry-clean a stay-pressed-forever material," I screamed. "Look, it says right here in the coat that the only way ot clean it is to place it over an air-conditioning unit for 24 hours."

"I put your Nehru suit over the air-conditioning unit."

"The Nehru suit has to be dipped in naphtha and airline hydraulic fuel."

"I didn't say so in the coat."

"The instructions were printed on the beads that came with the suit."

"DON'T YELL at me," my wife yelled. "If you bought suits made of wool and shirts made of cotton, you'd have something to wear tonight."

"Yeah, but then look at the laundry and cleaning bills we'd have."

Student Accused Of Marijuana

James Myron Tupper, 20, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court Friday on a felony complaint of selling marijuana.

Judge Hadden W. Roth scheduled plea entry for 1:30 p.m. next Friday. Tupper, a College of Marin student, was arrested Wednesday at the college for allegedly selling Marin County Drug Abuse Bureau agents two pounds of marijuana at his former residence, 631-A Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, on May 23.

The Magnolia Avenue address was site of a narcotics officers' raid Tuesday which netted seven persons booked for investigation of a variety of narcotics charges.

Tupper is free on $1,250 bail.

Trustees May Decide On Health Insurance

Whether to adopt expanded medical and hospital insurance for San Rafael City Schools employees at additional cost to the district of up to $117,981 per year may be decided by the board of education at its 7:30 p.m. meeting tomorrow at the city schools administration building.

Supt. John F. Plank has recommended that the school system increase the employees' coverage under Blue Cross and Kaiser plans which it pays from tax funds, and add dental insurance provided through California Dental Society.

An employee committee has insisted that the school system also provide the coverage for dependents.

Plank's proposal would add $91,675 to the load paid by the taxpayers in elementary and high school districts for employee health insurance. Of this $74,833 would be for the new dental insurance.

Extending the coverage to dependents of employees would add another $26,306, according to the superintendent's figures.

San Rafael City Schools now pay $10.37 per month for such insurance for male employees and $12.72 for female employees. It is one of several school systems in the county in which insurance is paid entirely by the district. Some Marin districts, however, provide no such insurance. None provides it for dependents.

The insurance addition would necessitate a tax increase of four or five cents each in the elementary and high school districts — or a total of eight to 10 cents for taxpayers living within San Rafael Elementary School District.

The board has not gathered information on coverage under other health plans to determine whether there might be more advantageous ones.

Cane sugar and beet sugar are pure sucrose. They react the same way in cooking.

Teen-Age Boys In Custody On Dope, Curfew

Two San Rafael boys, aged 15 and 17, were taken to Juvenile Hall Saturday, one of them allegedly under the influence of drugs, after being stopped at San Rafael intersection at about 2 a.m.

Police reports said the 15-year-old did not appear to be in control of his faculties as he and his 17-year-old companion walked near Woodland and Bungalow avenue.

The 15-year-old admitted smoking marijuana at a dance in San Francisco Friday night, officers said.

Both boys were taken to Juvenile Hall with the 15-year-old being booked on suspicion of being under the influence of drugs and a curfew violation and the 17-year-old being booked for curfew violation.

Attention parents: these students read all these books in one semester!

Come to a Reading Dynamics Demonstration and find out how they did it.

These students from St. Pius High School are posing with the stacks of books they were able to place into their heads in only one short semester. Brains or mental freaks they're not. Just average teenagers who were taught to read over 1500 words a minute or better. Your son and/or daughter, or you, can learn to read that fast too. To find out how, why don't you bring your youngster to a Reading Dynamics Demonstration?

At the Reading Dynamics Demonstration you will see a documentary film with endorsements from men in high public office who have taken the course. You will hear an interesting lecture after which you'll join the audience in asking questions about Reading Dynamics. You'll be reassured to discover that Reading Dynamics is no mere refined skim reading technique, but a comprehensive program of reading improvement and study skills.

Reading Dynamics really works.
Let's let the dynamic readers from St. Pius High speak for themselves:

TIMOTHY SCHUM, "I was once a 150 word per minute weakling, but now I'm a 5,000 word per minute muscleman. The Reading Dynamics study method has made high school easier and more fun than it ever was."

DANA FELLMAN, "It really works! Reading Dynamics helps in long reading assignments and homework."

MIKE H. "DUTCH" TUCKER, JR., "If you wish to not only make better grades, but have your homework become several hours shorter, I recommend Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics. I can read at least two books a day—better and faster."

MARY SUE WALSH, "The Reading Dynamics course includes a beneficial study method and helps in taking essay tests. Reading Dynamics makes it easier to capsulize your thoughts, organize your writing, and study large amounts of material for exams in a shorter time."

STANLEY CHAVEZ, "Reading Dynamics sure helps when you're doing homework. You enjoy reading a book without falling asleep. I like to read now—before I didn't."

TERRY HOTTENROTH, "In school I find I can write essays better due to being exposed to more styles of writing. On tests I don't have to cram—studying goes faster. My grades have gone up and now I do much more outside reading."

The success of this class can best be summed up by their teacher:

MISS JEANETTE FRENCH, "In previous years my U. S. History class would have covered the material through the Reconstruction period by Christmas. The Reading Dynamics group, in contrast, has completed the entire history text by this time. What fascinates me as a teacher is that the Reading Dynamics and study skills they have been taught have increased the quality of their understanding tremendously. They are learning much more and enjoying the learning."

If you would like to hear comments like these from your son or daughter, start by bringing them to one of the free Reading Dynamics Demonstrations listed below. Find out how Reading Dynamics can send your teenager back to school in September a much better student with a marvelous new skill that will serve him the rest of his life.

Teens Channel Talents Into Theater

By GLEN ANDERSON

Mix a cast of characters with unlikely names like "Snow Job and the Seven Flakes," "Jack the Social Climber," and "Jack's Pushy Mother."

Add more than 100 enthusiastic teen-agers to make up a cast of players and stage crew.

The result, according to Rev. Miles O'Brien Riley, assistant pastor of St. Raphael's Church in San Rafael, "has been worth 65 protest marches, 35 letters to the editor, a year of religion classes and a lot of boring sermons for these youngsters."

He was describing the result of "Pleasant Place," a production by the Azarian Teen Players of San Rafael that received such an enthusiastic response from San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto that he asked the troupe to give a public performance in San Francisco.

"Pleasant Place" is the third annual production which Rev. Riley has written and directed for the teen players.

"They've learned," said Father Riley, "to build something together and be appreciated for it. This is something they couldn't get for an 'A' or scoring 20 points in a game."

Alioto, enthused by the production when he saw it performed May 22 at the Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken Youth Award banquet in San Francisco, invited the players to perform in San Francisco.

He has since sent a letter confirming the invitation but no performance date has been set.

"Pleasant Place" is a parody on the "Peyton Place" television series just as two pervious productions, "Bye Bye Beatle" and "Teenagent," were parodies on teen-age singing groups and movies about spies.

It ends happily with all characters forsaking what Father Riley described as their "individual copouts" for love.

The point of forming the Azarian Players, according to Father Riley, was to bring together youngsters from throughout the community.

"This brings them closer together than classes, sermons, dances or beach trips might," he said. "And they experience something otherwise available only in sports, building something as a team and being appreciated for it."

The youngsters are as enthusiastic about the players as Reverend Riley.

"This has showed adults that kids could do things besides run around the streets," said the stage manager, Frank Roeth, 16, of 31 Sienna Way, San Rafael, who enters his senior year next fall at San Rafael High School.

Marji Spiliotis, 17, of 490 Fairhills Drive, San Rafael, a senior next fall at San Rafael High School, who played "Jack's Pushy Mother," described the players as "one big family."

"If one person is depressed, everyone else tries to help out. I changed a great deal from being in the play. These people care about you."

The players have now completed their scheduled performances for the year, Reverend Riley said, after appearing in San Jose, San Mateo and San Francisco as well as in San Rafael. But they are ready in case they do get the big chance to give a public performance in San Francisco.

MUSIC REVIEW

Al Fresco Concert Outstanding Event

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Marin's first "supper concert al fresco" presented yesterday afternoon at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross by the Marin Symphony orchestra was a success from every standpoint — music, attendance and even weather.

Comments were heard everywhere among the capacity audience of about 600 music lovers that this type of fund raising concert should become an annual event.

Conducted as usual by Sandor Salgo, the orchestra was augmented by 14 members of the Marin Youth Orchestra and their director Hugo Rinaldi, together with some other players, so that the ensemble was around 90 music musisians.

This was fortunate, for the extra number helped to make up for the loss of resonance accounted for by out-of-doors setting and lack of acoustical shell on the stage. Though it does not have a back wall, it would be great if a permanent shell could be built for the sake of future concerts.

Music was all that a good pops program usually offers, familiar light classic and popular selections. The first half consisted of the overture to Rossini's "William Tell," the charming notturno and scherzo from Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream" and a suite from Bizet's opera "Carmen."

Highlight of the afternoon was the appearance as soloist by the Marin Symphony Guild's glamorous president, Mrs. John A. Clements, whose professional name is Margot Power. The lovely lyrical quality of her voice was heard in the aria "Deh Vieni Non Tardar" from Mozart's opera "The Marriage of Figaro," and its supple flexibility in the aria "Czardas" from "Die Fledermaus" by Johann Strauss.

Closing the concert were those perennnal favorites "The Blue Danube" waltzes by Johann Strauss and Souza's "Stars and Stripes Forever" which made a rousing conclusion with Salgo wielding unexpectedly and with humorous effect a red, white and blue be-ribboned drum major's bation. It was incongruous for the suave and sophisticated maestro, but right in the spirit of the occasion with its relaxed informality that included refreshments available throughout the afternoon.

While the audience was occupied with boxed suppers after the concert, adding to the gaiety was the playing of an accordion, violin and string bass trio at various spots among the tables.

Incidentally, service was commendably quiet and expedious considering the size of the audience.

Mime Troupe Due In Mill Valley

The San Francisco Mime Troup will perform "Farce of Patelin" Saturday and Sunday in Mill Valley's Old Mill Park. The performances will start at 2 p.m.

At the same time, the troupe will give "Ruzzante or the Veteran" on the main drive, behind the DeYoung Museum in Golden Gate Park. Over objections by the city council.

Youth Music To Open Reed Spring Event

A young artists concert at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Del Mar School will open Reed School District's third annual spring festival.

The festival will run through Thursday.

The concert will feature performers from ages 9 through 18. Solos will be performed by student musicians Robert Borgmann, pianist, Marin Music Chest winner; Madeline Dubman, flutist, Marin Youth Orchestra soloist; Marc North, violinst, scholarship winner; Tom McFarlane, piano, and Brian McCarty, French horn.

Other participants will include Carl Johnson, trombone and baritone horn; Nina Wallerstein, flutist; Andrew Towne, Vicki Marinko, Barbara Fanning, Jennifer and Jon Sperry, and Ruth McKay, piano; Michael Phinicie, French horn.

A string quartet from Redwood High School will include Jane Everett, Susan Marchant, violins; Celia De Martini, viola, and Yvonne Corno, cello.

The musicians were auditioned by music teachers Leland R. Lincoln and Mrs. Rosalind Wong and the parent chairman of the event, Mrs. Ralph B. Dewey.

On Wednesday, a professional young audience group, the Pacific Woodwind Quintet, will present a concert at 9:15 a.m. at Bel Aire School and at 10:30 a.m. at Reed School.

On Wednesday at 8 p.m. at Del Mar School, more than 250 students, the largest number to perform in the history of the district's music festivals, will present a choral program.

The program will include performances by the Del Mar choral ensemble and the 160-voice Reed District elementary chorus, both of which were rated superior in the recent California Music Educators Association Bay Area festival at Santa Rosa. Music teachers Hyman Krongard and Mrs. Wong will direct.

An evening of instrumental music will be presented at 8 p.m. Thursday at Del Mar School.

More than 200 music students will perform under the direction of Lincoln and Chris Bogios.

The first balloon ascension was in France in 1783 when the Montgolfier brothers, Joseph and J. T., filled a large paper bag with hot smoke from a straw fire and sent the balloon 6,000 feet into the air.

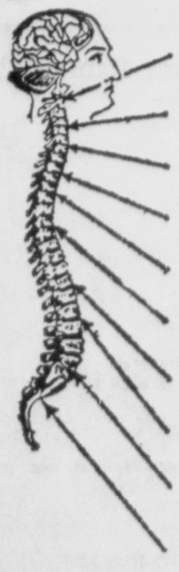
SPINAL NERVE PRESSURE CAN CAUSE MANY AILMENTS

The ailments mentioned below are some which may be caused by vertebrae in the spinal column slipping out of alignment and causing pressure and irritation on nerves. Study the chiropractic chart below and you will understand why over 30 million people have benefited from chiropractic care.



1. Slight pressure on nerves at this point may cause headaches, insomnia, pain in the neck, nervousness, dizziness or emotional disorders.
2. A slight slipping of a vertebra, causing pressure on nerves in this part of the spine, may be the cause of throat trouble, bursitis, pain in the shoulders and arms.
3. This arrowhead locates the part of the spine wherein pressure on nerves could cause pain between the shoulder blades, muscular ache in the arms and shoulders, hay fever, allergies, and bronchitis.
4. Nerve pressure at this point may cause chest pains, asthma and difficult breathing.
5. Stomach and liver troubles, enlargement of the spleen, may be caused by vertebrae slipping and causing nerve pressure in this part of the spine.
6. Many gall bladder problems, and shingles, may be caused by pressure at this point.
7. Skin diseases are sometimes the result of nerve pressure at the spinal openings here.
8. Such troubles as lumbago, low back ache, sacroiliac slip, slipped disc, are relieved by chiropractic adjustment at this point.
9. Constipation, rectal troubles, sciatica may be corrected by chiropractic adjustments at this part of the spine.

Ex-Member Of Arnheiter Crew Backs Skipper

A former crew member aboard the destroyer Vance has sent a defense of Lt. Cmdr. Marcus A. Arnheiter of San Rafael to Rep. Don Clausen, R-Calif., and asked Clausen to insert the statement in the Congressional Record.

Wayne H. Farnum, who was a signalman on the Vance when Arnheiter commanded it, said Arnheiter never showed a lack of respect for Vietnamese culture by firing on pagodas and shrines as he has been accused of doing. They were machine gun nests and other military targets in the buildings, said Farnum, who also sent a copy of his statement to the newspapers.

Arnheiter was relieved of his command by the Navy after some junior officers on the Vance complained about him.

Rep. Joseph Y. Resnick, D-N.Y., who conducted an informal investigation into the case, has been highly critical of the Navy's handling of the charges, declaring the Navy itself dismissed all except three of the 41 charges against Arnheiter.

Arnheiter's former crewman, Signalman Farnum, sided with Rep. Resnick and said there should be a full hearing of the charges against Arnheiter. He declared his former skipper's critics aboard the Vance were "malcontents and cry babies."

Said Farnum, "We never shot at a pagoda or a shrine. This is malicious drivel and character assassination."

"The targets Captain Arnheiter fired on were enemy targets. I was on the bridge and I know what I was looking at when the ship fired. The first time, we fired at bunkers and machine gun emplacements on the sand dunes which had been pinpointed and given to us by the airplane spotter.

"The second time we fired, we were anchored south of Qui Nhon. It appeared plain to bridge personnel that a tactical situation existed whereby the ship had been fired at from the port side of the shore.

"The third time the Vance fired was off Tam Quan when a spotter gave us an old fort to shoot at on the peninsula. It was a machine gun nest . . ."

Farnum, who is now stationed aboard the USS Larson, said, "Until a trial, judicially fair and impartial, settles this matter the men who man our publically-owned ships of war cannot hold their heads high, nor can the Navy be proud of its past.

"There is no precedent in American naval history that I know of for this obviously unfair treatment of Commander Arnheiter."

Farnum, a veteran of eight years in the Navy, wrote the Independent-Journal: "I'm a senior petty officer, but do you think I want to stay in the Navy that can do what it has to an outstanding officer like Captain Arnheiter? No Sir. Not me, I'm going to get out and go to college now and stop wasting my time."

Tam Trustees Receive Open Campus Protest

Burglary Suspect Becomes Stuck In Club's Chimney

A 29-year-old San Rafael man was caught up the flue yesterday at the San Geronimo National Golf Club restaurant in Woodacre and charged with suspicion of burglary.

Sheriff's deputies reported that Donald Edward Smith of 2120 Woodland Avenue, Apt. 6, lowered himself into the chimney at about midnight Saturday and became stuck.

When Wagner Peacock, a club employee, arrived at work at about 6 a.m. yesterday, he heard a thumping noise and a cry for help, deputies said. He looked around and saw Smith's feet in the flue.

Deputies went to the roof, hauled Smith up out of the chimney by rope, and booked him on suspicion of burglary.

Smith told them he had been stuck in the chimney since about midnight after his rope broke, deputies said. Smith was released under $2,500 bail and scheduled to appear in Marin Municipal Court for arraignment at 2 p.m. Wednesday.

RAFFERTY!

U.S. SENATOR

Rafferty for U.S. Senate Committee, Marin Co. Headquarters
Mrs. Vera Vargus, Chairman, 1492 Redwood Highway

The new Mercedes-Benz 250: so "over-engineered" it's loafing—even at grueling turnpike speeds.

Humming along at turnpike speeds, a test driver demonstrates a quick lane-change maneuver on a wet road. The Mercedes-Benz 250 remains perfectly balanced.

The highest posted speed limit in the U.S. is 80 miles per hour. (On the Kansas Turnpike.)

At 80 mph, the new Mercedes-Benz 250 isn't even breathing hard. Reason: it's designed for the wide-open highways of Europe, where there are no speed limits.

On stretches of Germany's autobahn, drivers regularly push their cars as fast as they'll go—rushing along at full throttle for hours on end. The engines of many conventional cars can go all to pieces under these conditions, but the Mercedes-Benz 250 remains utterly unflappable.

Overhead-camshaft engine

One of the main reasons: the Mercedes-Benz 250 has an engine with an overhead camshaft.

In conventional engines, the camshaft operates the valves by "remote control." The camshaft is in one part of the engine, the valves in another. In between are devices called "pushrods." It looks good in theory, but in practice it's a little like trying to play the piano with knitting needles.

Mercedes-Benz engineers took a long, dim view of this complicated system, and devised a simpler, much more direct approach. They poised the camshaft just above the valves, where it "plays" them with beautifully machined "fingers." Sweet music.

What "over-engineering" means to you

One automotive critic described the new Mercedes-Benz 250 as "over-engineered."

He's right—by conventional standards, it is. In design and construction the new Mercedes-Benz 250 goes far beyond the requirements for conventional automobiles.

An engine that's more relaxed at turnpike speeds is one good example of what "over-engineering" means in practical terms to the man who owns a Mercedes-Benz. Here are some more.

10,000 body welds

Most conventional cars have a separate body and chassis, held together with bolts. After a few thousand miles, the body flexes and the bolts can work loose. On a washboard road, the rattles can be deafening.

Mercedes-Benz eliminated the body bolts. Instead, body and chassis are welded together with over 10,000 individual welds. Result: a structure of immense strength and rigidity. After 50,000 miles or so, you may begin to wonder if your 250 will ever rattle.

2 "anti-sway" bars

Conventional sedans usually have a metal rod connecting the front wheels. It's called an "anti-sway" bar, and it resists body lean on sharp corners. Without it, the car would wallow—or the front springs would have to be made so stiff that the car would ride like a truck.

Mercedes-Benz engineers took this idea one step further. They included an anti-sway bar at the rear wheels, too—part of the 250's sensational new independent rear suspension. Result: a vastly superior ride, but still no mush, sway or wallow—even on hairpin turns.

4-wheel disc brakes

Many ordinary cars still have old-fashioned drum-type brakes. Good enough for most situations, but they can be marginal in a "panic stop."

Today's 180-mph Grand Prix racing cars use disc brakes. So does the new Mercedes-Benz 250. And not just on the front wheels, but on every wheel. Drum brakes are cheaper, but disc brakes give you the most precise braking money can buy. So Mercedes-Benz engineers insist on 4-wheel disc brakes as standard equipment. With 421.1 square inches of effective braking area, it's virtually impossible to outrun the 250's brakes.

"Fatigue-proof" seats

Take a day-long trip in some cars and you'll wind up feeling like a wrung-out washrag. The Mercedes-Benz 250 is engineered as much for human comfort as it is for mechanical efficiency.

Orthopedic physicians were consulted in the design of the 250's seats so you'll have proper support on cross-country tours as well as short hops to the supermarket. When you first slip into one of the 250's carefully contoured seats, it may seem firm, but once you get used to it, you'll never settle for "marshmallow" seats again. Mercedes-Benz engineers have respect for your backbone.

The Mercedes-Benz 250 is ideal for turnpike travel: individual front seats, rear seat almost 5 feet wide, and 20.5 cu. ft. of trunk space.

Engineering—not status

These are just a few of the dozens of advanced engineering features that made the new Mercedes-Benz 250 the star of the 1968 Brussels Auto Show.

The 250's enthusiastic reception was expected. This 3,000-lb., 5-passenger sports sedan rivals the most expensive Mercedes-Benz models in finish, and the famous 280SL sports car in its agile handling ability. And its functional, no-nonsense appearance—devoid of faddish touches—will be as pleasing years later as it is today.

The Mercedes-Benz 250 is a car for people who would rather spend their money on engineering than status. At $5,150,* it could be one of the shrewdest investments you'll ever make.

DUMKE TO CRITICS

Harmony Keynotes Appeal To Faculty

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An appeal to California's state college faculty to prepare for "momentous changes" in meeting needs of students and society has been issued by Chancellor Glen S. Dumke.

Dumke's letter to some 10,000 teachers in the 19-campus system also was clearly directed to the chancellor's critics—some faculty members who want him to take a stronger stand against Gov. Ronald Reagan and the Legislature and other persons who want stricter campus discipline.

"I am recommending to each state college president that he study means and methods for consulting his faculty on very short notice when issues are likely to boil over into serious confrontations or violence," Dumke said.

In his letter — and in an interview in Los Angeles last week — Dumke made it clear he believes handling of student discipline should remain the job of campus presidents rather than that of his own central office.

Dumke criticized some student and faculty demonstrators as "working toward the total collapse of our existing institutions ... Every possible issue is seized upon and manipulated through phony catch phrases and militant actions.

"In order to stem this rising tide we must make certain that we conscientiously and vigorously work at resolving all those issues which are real and of vital concern to our students and faculty ..." Dumke continued.

Most of his letter was devoted to an appeal to make courses more relevant to society's needs, to enroll more minority groups students and to give students some voice in academic policy. Dumke called for a conference early next fall on "The Relevance of Current Programs in Higher Education."

Groups of faculty members have been most vocal among Dumke's critics. The 42-member Academic Senate voted 30 to 10 with two abstentions last month to ask Dumke to resign.

Some Academic Senate members have said Dumke should play a stronger role in making budget requests from Reagan and in answering legislative critics of the college system.

Twenty members of the State Senate recently held a meeting with Dumke and other college officials in Sacramento. Dumke urged them to give him a chance to deal with student unrest and problems of academic freedom before the Legislature takes action.

Later, student demonstrations broke out at San Francisco State College. President John Summerskill was fired after criticism of his handling of the unrest. Summerskill originally planned to resign Sept. 1.

Explosion In Textile Plant Kills Three

CLEMSON, S. C. (AP) — Three men were killed and nine injured today in a pre-dawn explosion which ripped through a finishing room at the Utica-Mohawk textile plant of J.P. Stevens & Co.

The dead were identified by Oconee County Coroner Raymond Williams as Edward W. Whitman, 31; George Matthis, 32; and Samuel Cobb, 31. All lived in nearby Seneca.

The most seriously injured was Lane Williams of Route 2, Seneca.

All of the dead and injured were taken to the Oconee County Memorial Hospital at Seneca following the 4 a.m. explosion.

The hospital said eight injured in addition to Williams were treated for lacerations and other injuries, probably caused by flying glass.

Fire equipment and personnel from throughout this northwestern South Carolina area helped fight the roaring blaze which followed the blast. It was first feared other bodies might be in the debris but officers said later the three dead and nine injured were believed to be the only casualties.

Head Bullets Victim Ready To Return Home

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Alaskan biologist Ralph B. Williams, just out of the hospital, plans to return home in a few days—still carrying in his head the five bullets inflicted by assailants May 12.

Dr. Dudley J. Fournier said yesterday that Dr. Williams, 57-year-old Alaskan Health Department biologist, was released from St. Mary's Hospital over the Memorial Day weekend and planned to remain in this area a short time before traveling to his Juneau home.

Williams was attacked by two persons as he walked to his hotel room from a theater. He did not recollect being shot and thought he had only been roughed up.

A persistent headache took him to Dr. Fournier 15 hours after the incident and it was not until X-rays turned up five bullets in his head that Williams knew he had been shot.

The only noticeable effect of Williams' brush with death is some difficulty in talking and swallowing because one bullet severed a nerve controlling tongue movement.

Fournier said that the severed nerve may regenerate, but if not Williams would return to San Francisco for further treatment.

"Where Knowledge from the Past helps Build for the Future"

Learning Spanish Can Be Fun

By BETTY FROST

The greeting "buenos tardes" echoed in three Bel Aire classrooms during an hour spent observing the activities of Miss Flora Flores, Spanish teacher in the Reed Union School District.

Using the oral method, followed by reinforcement of the lessons with an early introduction of reading and writing the foreign language, Miss Flores visited a fourth grade, a fifth grade and a sixth grade, adjusting the day's lesson material for each class level. Within the hour she conducted oral quizzes, listened to dialogues and heard a lively domestic skit. That language learning can be fun was evident from the full participation of all class members and the eager volunteers for roles and responses.

"I am afraid they will forget everything during the summer," the dark-eyed woman said, wistfully. However she is looking forward to an unusual opportunity this summer when she will be a faculty member at the institute for American teachers of the Spanish language in Gurgos, Spain. She will be the only woman on the faculty of six teachers from the country participating in the institute, which is co-sponsored by the U.S. Office of Education and Sacramento State College. There will also be 14 native Spaniards assisting as guest lecturers during the nine week course.

THIS IS THE first time that Sacramento State College has conducted an institute outside of the country. Forty-five teachers from California and other parts of the United States will attend the intensive sessions. Applications from 580 teachers were received. Although this is the first time the Marin woman has assisted with an institute in Spain, it will be her sixth summer institute on the faculty side, as she has participated in these programs at Kansas University, Sonoma and Sacramento State Colleges. She specializes in language teaching methods and demonstrations.

"The American teachers should teach Spanish for communication," she said, indicating that a perfect accent is not essential. Still she expressed pleasure in the Bel Aire children's recognition and correct reproduction of such sound subtleties as Spanish masculine and feminine word endings, and their pronunciation of some of the more difficult words in the day's lesson.

"There are three Americas," the senorita told the children. All the children know that their teacher is a native of Costa Rica, a Central American republic. A graduate of the University of Costa Rica, she taught in public shcools in her native country until 1944. The following year she came to this country to study at Northwest Missouri State College in Marysville, Mo., where she received a B.S. degree in secondary education. She continued her education at Emporia State Teachers College in Emporia, Kan., where she obtained the M.S. degree in English, and the University of Kansas where she was granted the M.A degree in Spanish. She has done post-graduate work at the University of Kansas, University of California, Sacramento State College and Dominican College and has completed all requirements for the Ph.D degree except the dissertation.

SHE HAS BEEN in the Reed District for six years, and established the Spanish program there. She has also taught in public spchools in Kansas and at the University of Kansas, Sonoma State College and the College of Marin. She appeared for five years on a television program in Kansas City, giving Spanish instruction, and has been on the Bay Area educational station KQED with a similar program.

"My profession is my life," Miss Flores revealed. Vacations are often spent teaching or taking courses. Every year she returns to Costa Rica for a month to visit her mother and sister in the capital, San Jose. Even on holiday there she enjoys visiting schools in session and lecturing at high schools on life in the United States.

This year she will defer her visit to Central America until winter. She is anticipating a particularly interesting and demanding summer. She will give 40 lectures during the nine week course. Seven weekend field trips to various parts of Spain will originate from the institute at Burgos. The participants will live in private homes in Burgos during half their stay and spend the other half at the hotel where the faculty will remain throughout the sessions.

HER HOBBIES ARE also intellectual in character. She collects pre-Columbian art of the Indians of Costa Rica. Costa Rica had only a small Indian population when the Spaniards came, and now there are no Indians left, she explained. The artifacts of the Indians are not highly regarded by most Costa Ricans, she said. Since her family and friends know that Miss Flores is interested, they save these items for her and her collection is steadily growing. She particularly prizes a three-legged incense burner used in ancient Mayan rites. She hopes one day to write a book on the pre-Columbian art of her native land.

Another interest is the history of Costa Rica. She is greatly interested in the life of a national hero, Juan Santamaria who, in 1856, successfully resisted the attempts of William Walker of Tennessee to take over the country. Here is another possible book in the making.

Already published by Miss Flores are two Spanish curriculum guides for young children, and a sprightly teaching aid, "Salsa A La Espagnola" ("Sauce Spanish Style"), which contains conversation, information and skits suitable for classroom work.

"WHICH ANIMAL DO I have here?" asks Miss Flora Flores in Spanish as eager Bel Aire School fourth grade pupils volunteer guesses in Spanish relating to the hidden picture cards. The Reed Union School District Spanish teacher, a specialist in teaching methods and demonstrations, will go to Spain this summer as a faculty member of an institute at Burgos, co-sponsored by the U.S. Office of Education and Sacramento State College. Shower For The Bridegroom Has A Polynesian Theme

By MOLLY MARIN

A large cocktail and dinner party was held outdoors around the pool Saturday evening to honor Tony Good of Kentfield, who will marry Kathy Van Myers of La Crescenta on June 28 in Glendale. Hosts for the "bridegroom's shower" were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ciampi, at whose San Rafael home the party was given, their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Ciampi (Valerie Good). The latter is Tony's sister. Also hosting the gathering were Tony's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Craig of Kentfield.

A Polynesian theme was carried out with lanterns and palm trees for the party, which was attended by some 75 friends and family members of the future bridegroom. Among the guests were Tony's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Good of Kentfield, and his his brothers, David and Stuart Good.

Tony's fiancee will be graduated from Mills College this month, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Zell Van Myers of La Crescenta, will attend the ceremony and be in the Bay Area for the family dinner June 8 given for the couple by his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Good, at their San Francisco home.

TUESDAY, AFTER voting for their favorite candidates, a group of Marinites will attend a luncheon at the Cabana in Palo Alto to honor Mrs. William Woods of Mill Valley. Those attending are Mesdames John De Gere, Harry McMahan and Charles McAdams of Mill Valley, Mrs. J. P. Redington of Greenbrae and Mrs. E. L. Porter of San Mateo.

JUNIOR GIRLS living in Campisi Hall on the University of Santa Clara campus attended a barbecue luncheon and swimming-sailing party in Belvedere Saturday given by Kathy Moore and Robin Ericson, both of Belvedere, and also completing the junior year at Santa Clara. The party was held at the home of Robin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ericson. The Ericsons and Kathy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Moore, assisted.

MADELEINE JANE McRea, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Donald McCrea, will be christened at St. Hilary's Church, Tiburon, June 8. Her parents plan a buffet party at their Tiburon home following the ceremony. The little girl, who was born May 10, is the first girl to be born into the McCrea family in over 150 years. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robin McCrea of Belvedere and Mr. and Mrs. John R. Smith of Larkspur. Her mother is the former Sylvia Smith. She was named for her paternal grandmother, Madeleine, and the last McCrea girl, Jane, born in the late 18th Century.

IT'S A GIRL for the Douglas Mac Lachlans. The baby was born Saturday at Alta Bates Hospital in Berkeley. Her mother is the former Natalie Knauth of Belvedere. The Mac Lachlans have named their daughter Heather Bowditch Mac Lachlan. She is the first grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. Basil Knauth of Belvedere and Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Mac Lachlan of Newport Beach. Little Heather also has two great grandmothers, Mrs. Lucile Kent of Newport Beach, and Mrs. R. C. Relihan of Douglas, Ga. Mrs. Relihan is planning a trip to Belvedere to meet the newcomer in the late summer.

A TEA for 22 guests was given by Mrs. Fred Heidinger at her Mill Valley home May 16 to honor Mrs. Earl Baker. Mr. and Mrs. Baker, formerly of Tiburon, will soon leave for the state of Washington. This is a permanent move for the Bakers.

A THANK-YOU for the committee who planned the International Hospitality Center's Treasure Ball will be given June 11 at the 21 Flags Restaurant in San Francisco. Marin guests will include Messrs. and Mesdames McDonald Denman, Richard C. Otter and W. L. Ferguson. Some of the members of the Consular Corps in San Francisco will also attend.

DR. AND MRS. Alfred Azevedo of Tiburon entertained Mrs. Azevedo's brother, William Wood of Columbia University's Graduate School of Journalism, over the Memorial Day holiday. Professor Wood is here interviewing young Negroes as scholarship prospects for a summer project at Columbia.

Senior Wins Trip East

Linda Thaning, a graduating senior at San Rafael High School, is the West Coast winner of a four-day trip to New York for her modeling and fashion know-how. She will fly east on June 24.

The daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Ragnar Thaning of San Rafael will be accompanied by her mother and will join the other five national winners, also with their mothers, for a guided tour of theaters, restaurants and places of interest in New York.

Linda is the second Marin girl who has been selected for national honors in the Wendy Ward fashion program, as Karen Franz was an earlier winner. Linda will enter College of Marin to major in merchandising and hopes to go into a fashion career. While in New York she will be interviewed by a modeling agency, and will appear in a forthcoming issue of "In" magazine in a story about the trip east.

Linda was winner of a New York trip last July in a "Be a Seventeen Model" contest and modeled teen fashions for the October issue of Seventeen magazine.

She began modeling some 13 years ago and is a model with the Anne Demeter Agency in San Francisco. Linda likes to sew and design many of the clothes she wears. An active teen-ager, she likes dancing and playing the piano and at San Rafael High School has been a member of the pep club and class council.

SAN RAFAEL teen-ager Linda Thaning has been selected West Coast winner of a four-day trip to New York for her modeling and fashion skills.

Good Old Dress Sizes Just Are Not What They Used To Be

If your dress size has stayed the same over the past few years, chances are your figure hasn't, the Health Insurance Institute reports.

For, it is generally felt that the fashion industry in recent years had been down-sizing some of its merchandise, flattering the American woman's ego as her figure, collectively speaking, has changed its dimensions.

TODAY'S YOUNG adult woman is taller, bustier, leggier and heavier than any previous generation of American females. A recent study indicates the average woman today is five feet four and a half inches tall and weighs 126 pounds. Her dimensions are: bust, 35 and one-fourth inches, waist 26 inches, and hips, 36 and a half.

Compare that with the "hour-glass" girls of 1900. In that era, the average woman was five feet two inches tall, weighed 114, had a bust measurement of 33 and three-tenths inches, a 24 inch waist and was 36 inches around the hips.

MUCH OF THIS anatomical change stems from the fact that the modern woman is the product of an evolving American society. Eating habits have changed as the public's health education has improved. In addition, today's young woman had a healthier childhood as a result of better diet and wholesome exercise. There's also the fact that modern women take better care of their figures.

All of this has had ramifications within the world of fashion. For some time now, manufacturers of ready-to-wear have been down-sizing their merchandise as customers, on the average, have been getting bigger.

In part, this has been the result of efforts to standardize sizing so a woman doesn't have to guess which rack to go to when she leaves one store and goes to another. Makers of inexpensive garments have, in many cases, made their wares conform to the markings on more expensive apparel, which traditionally has been cut more fully.

YET, MOST observers of the fashion scene see an element of vanity in all of this. As one put it: "Every woman likes to think she's able to get into a girlish size dress. The makers of better dresses have known this all along. Now everybody is catching up."

The latest to catch up are the manufacturers of pattenrs for do-it-yourselfers. Over the years, a gap developed between the size of patterns and the size of ready-mades, forcing a woman to buy a size 12 pattern if she wanted to make what she considered a size 10 dress. Now the pattern sizes conform to ready-to-wear markings.

Turning The Other Cheek For 18 Years Can Only Get You Slapped

DEAR HELEN:

After 18 years of turning the other cheek, I finally exploded to my mother-inlaw.

She has always been very cruel, wordwise, but only when no one else could hear her but me and my children.

I finally couldn't take her slams and criticism any more, especially as it began to hurt our girls. She constantly dug into me about being Italian-Catholic, made remarks about our color, our superstitions, etc. When I exploded, she told my husband that I am sick, and also that I'm ashamed that I'm Italian. He halfway believes her. At least he acts worried.

I guess that's the trouble with never letting your real feelings show. When you finally can't hold them back any longer, the real guilty party has a perfect out, "The poor thing must be going crazy."—HAD IT

DEAR HAD IT:

You're so right—and that's why constantly turning the other cheek can only get you slapped around.

Now that you've finally made your stand, don't back down, but be calm and polite about it. Your husband and daughters know you aren't sick, and so does your m-in-l, who, after her initial howls, will probably develop more respect for you than she has had in the last 18 years.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

You asked for personal experiences with computer matchmaking. Here's my story:

When I was 18, I fell for a handsome man with whom I had little in common, but I was sure that love would conquer all.

Twenty years later my marriage fell apart, and I faced the humiliation of divorce while my husband gave up his children and career for a girl young enough to be his daughter.

At age 40, I realized that background and values are of the utmost importance in marriage, and that friendship and respect are the greater part of love.

With this in mind, I tried the scientific method to find a dinner date and help cure my loneliness. Through the computer, I found a wonderful man who is the kind of person I should have been seeking 20 years ago.

Perhaps I am just one of the lucky ones, but I am certain the computer method should not be overlooked in seeking a mate. After all, computers often take the mistakes out of business. Why shouldn't they be used in the advancement of human relations? — HAPPIER THAN EVER

DEAR HAPPIER:

I can't help observing that computers have been known to make monumental mistakes—but then, so do humans. Am glad the scientific method clicked for you.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

My daughter, almost 16, says I need a psychiatrist because I object to her receiving phone calls from a boy at 4:30 and 5:30 a.m. I put a deadline on her night calls at 11:00 p.m. It's seldom recognized.

Also, I think three dates a week are enough. She disagrees. Her idea of a date is one that starts at noon and lasts till after midnight, sometimes with the same boy, other times with a change of boys half way through the day.

Do I need mental help, as she says?—V.G.

DEAR V:

No! You need to prove your mentality with a firm hand and unwavering rules. Remember: you're in charge here, and don't forget it!—H.

Piazza-Henry Nuptials May 26 In Novato

A ceremony May 26 at Our Lady of Loretto Church in Novato united in marriage Sandie Henry and Joseph Piazza, both of Novato.

Summer Workshops For Children Begin This Month

Five sets of creative summer workshops for children have been planned by the Marin County YWCA this summer, Eleanor Wolfe, newly appointed full-time director, announced this week.

"We have planned two four-week sessions with the hope that this will fit various family vacation schedules. The first session is the week of June 17 through July 12; our second session, July 15 to August 9.

The creative group play for boys and girls 3 to 5 will be directed by Miss Judy Hamsun on Tuesday and Thursday mornings and will include singing and rhythms, story-telling, finger and brush painting, and crafts.

For 5 and 6 year old boys and girls the creative Arts Workshop will be offered for one six-week session, on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons, beginning June 18. Miss Suzanne Morten will conduct games, drama, costuming, environment building, painting, and the use of percussion instruments.

Mrs. Bruce Bajema, professional puppeteer, will offer a puppet and creative dance workshop for 6 to 9 year old girls on Wednesday and Friday mornings. In her second session, Mrs. Bajema will conduct a printing and dance workshop using objects the girls find in nature.

Mrs. Joan Yost, associated with Marin Dance Co-op, will offer two sessions of creative dance for girls 6 to 9, following the puppet workshop. The girls will explore movement, building environments, and dance composition. Their kinesthetic experience will be augmented with the senses of sight, sound and touch.

Mrs. Jackie Koehler will present two drawing and composition workshops for third, fourth, fifth and sixth grade girls.

Registration is open for workshops and swim classes at the Racquet Club for both tiny tots (3 to 5) and advanced beginners (6 to 8), boys and girls. Brochures may be obtained from the Marin YWCA.

Sorority Elects 12-Year-Member

MRS. HERBERT MEYERINCK JR.

Mrs. Herbert W. Meyerinck Jr. of Tiburon was installed as civil defense chairman of the Nothern California Council, Beta Sigma Phi on Sunday at the bimonthly meeting in Stockton. In keeping with civil defense, she has chosen "Medical Defense" as her theme this year, developing the subject as related to everyday life and emergencies.

Last week at a state convention in Los Angeles, attended by Mrs. Meyerinck, sorority chapters from five areas gave a total of $30,691.96 to the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation. This money will be used exclusively in California for research and treatment of California victims of the disease.

Marinell and her husband, a salesman, have two married daughters, Mrs. Donald DeVol of Cave Junction, Ore., and Mrs. Michael Seymour of Costa Mesa, and seven grandchildren. Her hobbies include her own collection of cookbooks and recipes and one of old newspapers dating back to 1880, begun by her grandmother.

Cathedral Rites For Helen Keller

EASTON, Conn. (AP) — The ashes of Helen Keller will be placed in the National Cathedral in Washington with those of Anne Sullivan Macy, who opened a new world to her, and of Polly Thompson, a later companion.

Miss Keller is cremated today in Bridgeport, Conn., after private services. A memorial service will be held Wednesday in the National Cathedral with Sen. Lister Hill, D-Ala., a friend of Miss Keller, delivering the eulogy.

MANY EULOGIES

There were nationwide eulogies in Japan today for Miss Keller, 87, the blind and deaf author who died Saturday at her country home, Arcan Ridge, where she had lived quietly in recent years.

In Tokyo, the 102 residents of the Helen Keller Institute for the blind and deaf held memorial services for the woman who had given them hope and inspiration. The institute was founded in 1950 as a result of a visit by Miss Keller to Japan.

Dr. Forris Chick, Miss Keller's physician, said she died quietly after a prolonged illness.

Miss Keller, a native of Tuscumbia, Ala., was normal until she was 19 months old, when she suffered a fever that left her blind and deaf.

Her parents, acting on advice by Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone, sent to the Perkins School of the Blind at Watertown, Mass., for a teacher for the child.

The teacher—Anne Sullivan, a young Irish girl—painstakingly taught Miss Keller to understand the relationship between objects and language and thereby became a celebrity herself. The play and film, "The Miracle Worker," dramatized Miss Keller's transformation from a wild, unruly child under Miss Sullivan's teaching.

Miss Sullivan married critic John A. Macy but remained with Miss Keller until 1936 when she died.

Miss Sullivan began by using the finger tapping manual alphabet, and went on from there to break through the wall of blindness and deafness. She began to write while a student at Radcliffe College. She led a busy life for many years, as an author and as a friend of the handicapped throughout the world. She traveled to more than 35 countries in behalf of the blind. When she was 75, she made a 40,000-mile journey through Asia.

FREEDOM MEDAL

In 1964, President Johnson bestowed on Miss Keller the Medal of Freedom, the highest award an American president can give a civilian.

Miss Keller is survived by a brother, Philip B. Keller of Dallas, and a sister, Mildred Tyson of Montgomery, Ala.

Jet Crash Touches Off Student Riot

FUKUOKA, Japan (UPI)—A U.S. Air Force jet crashed into a partially completed building at Kyushu University last night, touching off a student anti-American demonstration.

The two crewmen of the F4C Phantom, Lt. Col. Russell F. Crutchlow, 46, of Norfolk, Va., and Maj. Ernest E. Johnson, 35, of Mount Clemens, Mich., parachuted to safety.

Their jet's crash set off a fire in the six-story structure under construction. Air Force spokesmen said there was no casualties.

As 30 fire engines sped to the flaming future home of the university's technical institute, about 1,000 students gathered and began shouting, "Yankee, go home."

Students surrounded and kicked and beat on an automobile carrying U.S. Air Force personnel. Police escorted the vehicle, its windows shattered, to safety.

Students here had demonstrated in January when a large number of planes arrived during the crisis surrounding North Korea's seizure of the USS Pueblo.

An Air Force spokesmen said Crutchlow and Johnson had no time to steer their crippled plane elsewhere.

Three Heart Patients Die; Another Serious

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Doctors in Buenos Aires fought today to save the life of the world's 19th heart transplant patient after a tragic weekend in which three men with transplanted hearts died in a span of barely five hours.

Only seven of the 20 persons who have been given new hearts have so far survived the delicate operation.

Antonio E. Serrano, a 54-year-old noodle vendor who inherited the heart of a 47-year-old union leader Friday, lay in a coma in the Model Clinic in Lanus, an industrial suburb of Buenos Aires. Doctors described his condition as "satisfactory under the circumstances."

Serrano was breathing with the aid of an artificial lung and was receiving continuous blood transfusions. Emilio Tomasetti, the poultry-union leader whose heart was implanted in Serrano's body, died of a stroke.

The 16th, 18th and 20th transplant patients, two Americans and a Canadian, died Saturday. The 20th case, Ronald G. Smith of Hempstead, N.Y., died on the operating table at New York Hospital when his new heart failed to function.

Smith, a 39-year-old Negro limited-duty policeman from a Brooklyn precinct, was being given the heart of Mario Cedeno, a 28-year-old Bronx janitor who shot himself in the head Saturday.

The medical team which performed the 20th transplant was headed by Dr. C. Walton Lillehei, inventor of the heart-lung machine which made the transplants possible.

The other two transplant patients who died Saturday were Joseph G. Klett of Orange, Va., the 16th case, and Albert Murphy of Montreal, the 18th person on whom the operation had been performed.

Six other heart-transplant patients were alive and doing well—two in the United States and one each in South Africa, Brazil, England and France.

A spokesman for the Hospital das Clinica in Sao Paulo, Brazil, said Joao Ferreira da Cunha, a 23-year-old cowboy who got a new heart a week ago yesterday, is "doing fine," moving about his room and choosing his own meals.

Doctors said the patient has no problems, but they do—he insists on playing records with the volume turned up full blast.

Pope Delays Church Birth Control Paper

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope Paul VI remained undecided on the Roman Catholic Church's position on birth control today, two years after a special study commission recommended the church end its ban on contraceptives, Vatican sources said.

The sources, who said recently a papal pronouncement on the issue was likely this summer, reported yesterday the decision apparently has been delayed again.

In 1966 the Pope said no major change should be expected in the church's present position, which sanctions only the use of the so-called rhythm method to regulate conception.

There has been speculation that if he makes any change it will be to authorize use of the birth control pill solely to control the menstrual cycle and thereby make it easier for Catholic couples to practice the rhythm method.

The birth control question has been under study by the church since the late Pope John XXIII appointed a commission to look into it in 1963. Paul enlarged the commission and in June 1966, he received conflicting reports from its two factions.

Police Break Student Hold At Riotous Rome University

ROME (UPI)—Tough Italian riot police stormed into Rome University today to clear out left-wing students occupying classrooms after a morning of violence on the campus.

The leftwingers shouted insults at police but retreated without offering any resistance.

Several thousand students standing outside the university, who fought with the leftwingers during the morning, cheered the group of 100 police when they broke a padlock on the main entrance and charged inside.

The riot police first broadcast a warning on loudspeakers to the leftwingers, who occupied the university on Friday, to get out. When the students failed to obey, an officer tooted a blast on a warning trumpet and the police went in.

Shortly before that, the leftwing group and other students wanting to attend classes hurled rocks and flaming rags at each other and fought with fire extinguishers in Italy's fourth straight day of student violence.

The fighting broke out when about 300 students who wanted to attend classes gathered outside the main entrance to the university and began throwing rocks at those inside.

Terra Linda Loses In Champs Tourney Finals

By GARY TISCHLER

The Marin County Athletic League's Black Saturday ended around 11 p.m. at bleak Albert Field when the last dejected Terra Linda High School fan filed out of the park entrance.

It was a day that held some of the brightest promise yet, but the Trojans, finalists in the fifth annual Redwood Baseball Tournament of Champions, like the league's finalists in the state track meet earlier in the day, were swallowed up.

In a weird, sloppy game that twisted like a humorless snake, Oakland Tech's cinderalla team rallied for four runs in the bottom of the sixth inning to snatch the title away from Terra Linda, 7-4. Tournament director Al Endriss estimated the crowd at 2,300.

The victim of the hit, scratch and run uprising was Mike Timmel, the Trojans' wonder hurler all year.

The night was not a total loss for the Trojans. They landed Timmel, catcher Craig Logan, and second baseman Gary Trono on the tourney's ten-man all-star team, joining pitcher-catcher Ron Dyson, shortstop Mike Price and third baseman Milton Owens of Tech, pitcher-outfielder Tom Fitchie and first baseman Steve Waller of Montgomery, outfielder Mike Tenerowicz of El Camino, and pitcher Len Massaro of Richmond.

Montgomery captured third place by nicking Richmond, 6-4 and Pittsburg topped St. Eligabeth's, 6-5, for the consolation title. Eel Camino tipped winless Tennyson, 5-3, for 7th place.

The championship game, such as it was, was no handbook for expectant fielders. Nine errors were committed behind the two exasparated pitchers, five by Terra Linda. Only three of the runs off Timmel were earned.

Timmel, however, did not come up with one of his top performances, giving up six hits, striking out nine batters, tossing a pair of wild pitches and hitting one batter with a breaking pitch that didn't break.

The Trojans jumped off to a 1-0 lead in the first when Ken Lazzarini singled up the middle, stole second and came home on Dave Edson's clean-shot single. Edson was picked off first by wily and patient Oakland Tech hurler Dyson.

Tech tied it on welcome gifts in the second, scoring on a two-out outfield error, a single and a sucker steal of second that scored the runner from third.

The remainder of the game hinged on two innings. Tech jumped on top, 3-1 in their half of the fourth, on a walk, a wild pitch, an error at third, a bobbled base hit that brought in two runs.

Giants Return To Candlestick For Home Stand

Marichal Record At 9-2

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Juan Marichal seems well on the way to fulfilling the prophecy that he can win 30 games in the National League this season.

The high-kicking right-hander from the Dominican Republic set down the Dodgers 5-1 in Los Angeles yesterday for his ninth triumph of the year and he has one start left before the baseball year will be one-third old.

Marichal's three-hit job, the only run coming on Wes Parker's ninth inning home run, left the Giants a half game behind St. Louis as San Francisco arrived home to meet Philadelphia with Ray Sadecki facing Chris Short in the mound.

THE YEAR

During spring training, Vice President Charles "Chub" Feeney had said this could be the season for Marchal to win 30 since he had something to prove. In 1967 Juan had broken his 20-game winning game string when he was only 14-10 and did not pitch after suffering a hamstring muscle pull in August.

"If I thought 30, I'd be thinking too far ahead," said Marichal when asked what he thought of his chances of becoming the first major league pitcher to win that many since Dizzy Dean did it in 1934.

"I just look ahead to the next game," Marichal said quietly. "I don't look farther ahead."

The 29-year-old hurler reported to spring training on time this year, breaking a string of salary holdouts, and feels physically better for it.

WEIGHS 184

"I weigh 184 now and a year ago it was 195," he said. "I don't know what will happen when it gets hotter in the summer."

Len Gabrielson, an ex-Giant, was the first to save Willie Mays from being a goat in the finale of the intrastate series. He slapped a screwball sharply to right field for a single in the seventh.

That was the first hit since Ron Fairly was credited with a second inning double on a ball Mays misjudged in centerfield the ball sailing behind him for a double.

"I didn't see the ball," the great outfielder said when asked after the game.

Parker's homer on a fast ball ruined the shutout in the ninth. Marichal went to 9-2 compared with 9-4 at this time last year when the hamstring injury ruined his season. He is the first major leauge hurler to reach nine wins.

A year ago in November the injury quit hurting and Juan decided to try winter league ball in the Dominican Republic to see if he was okay.

5-1 MARK

He posted a 5-1 record and said, "I felt good. Then, I got

Bob Lunn Wins Atlanta Classic

ATLANTA (AP) — Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player still draw the crowds on the golf tour, but the whiz kid newcomers are pocketing the proceeds.

Bob Lunn, 23-year-old Californian who had never won a tournament two weeks ago, collected $23,000 yesterday for winning the Atlanta Classic.

Palmer who has won 52 tournament titles, drew a check for $226 for tying for 45th. Nicklaus collected $1,725 for a tie for 16th, and Player made the best showing of the once-feared "Big Three" with a tie for seventh, worth $3,289.

NO DOMINATION

"There are an awful lot of real good young players on the tour now," conceded Nicklaus, who said earlier that nobody would ever dominate pro golf again.

One of the best of the youngsters has to be Sacramento's Lunn, who now has won two straight titles and climbed to sixth on this year's money list with earnings of $57,931.

Trailing him in yesterday's finish, were Lee Trevino, yet to win a title; Paud Bondeson, whose best finish was second four years ago; Rocky Thompson, who has never been higher than third; Frank Boynton, another outsider, and Lou Graham, winner only once on the tour.

Ron Cerrudo of San Rafael won $905 for his final round 73 and 290.

Nicklaus thinks the tested veterans still have an advantage in the pressure-packed prestige tournaments such as the U.S. Open where he will defend his title June 13.

HANDS FULL

But the old pros may have their hands full with Lunn, who learned his golf on the municipal courses of San Francisco.

Lunn fired a finishing 69 for an eight-under-par 280 to win the Atlanta Classic a week after pocketing his first champion's check at the Memphis Open.

The 210-pound youngster survived half a dozen challenges in the final round and never strayed over par on the last nine holes. He capped his triumph with a birdie on the 18th.

"I'm in a real good groove, and I'm consistent," the son of a San Francisco policeman said. "My putting has been the difference lately, I think."

SECOND YEAR

Lunn played regularly on the tour last year, but won only $1,871.79 in official earnings.

"I never got discouraged," Lunn said. "I knew it would take a while before I started winning."

Cases of tomato juices were sent to Atlanta sports writers when Lunn arrived from Memphis earlier in the week, but

Indy Is Proving Ground For The Family Auto

PRESS RELEASE: "The famed Indianapolis Motor Speedway is the focal point of the motor racing world and, in fact, the prime focal point of all sports news during the month of May. But what most people don't realize is that though only one race, the famed Indianapolis 500-Mile Motor Classic, is held at the speedway each year, a variety of activity takes place during the other 11 months of the year — everything from tire and automotive component testing to filming of television shows and commercials.

"In addition, the track is used by car manufacturers in attempts to set new endurance records for both speed and longevity in an effort to produce better products for the road."

Well, enlightened by this news, I went to the Tamalpais Theater on Memorial Day to see the Indianapolis "proving grounds" on closed circuit television. Just how, I wondered, could they produce a better family flivver for MY road?

No Right Turns, Please

Sure enough, the television production was extremely informative. For example, I learned that the automotive industry has perfected a steering aparatus that, on the racing cars at least, only turns left. These are great when you drive up to a corner and find a "No Right Turn" sign. And, those curious left-only racer steering wheels are dandy for the family flivver if you're driving south and live to the east. But if you live to the west, well, you'll just have to take the long way home, Bunkie.

The Indy 500 also showed how to negotiate a curve at 140 mph without your wife screaming at you. I can hardly wait to try THAT little trick in my Volkswagen.

I hope my local service station attendant saw the race. One car pulled into the pit and got two tires changed and a fill-'er-up job in 25.3 seconds. Hell, they make Union's Minute Men look like slowpokes. Let my local gaspump jockey beat THAT record!

Could Be A Handy Trick

Another gem of wisdom gleaned from the motor proving grounds was provided by Joe Leonard in a turbine car on how to dig out of a gas station at 70 mph. This trick will come in handy if you ever forget your credit card.

I understand Bobby Unser, the winner of the race, is going to become a wealthy author. He is reported to be working on a sure best-seller titled: "How To Drive 500 Miles Without A Potty Stop," but, shucks, he didn't have a wife and kids along with him. Anyway, he made the outstanding contribution in these tests to produce a better product for the road.

Next year I hope the automotive proving grounds produces more goodies for the family flivver. Like how to keep the dashboard clock accurate, and how to keep your wife's cosmetics out of the glove compartment.

Walters Throws No-Hitter

The Litchfield Braves are at it again.

The San Rafael nine took up where it left off last summer in the Western Baseball Association by clipping the Rosebuds of Santa Rosa at San Rafael's Albert Field yesterday in a loop doubleheader.

The WBA defending champs won the first game 8-4, then wilted the Buds 3-0, in the second game behind a sensational no-hitter by Keith Walters.

Walters, unfortunately for San Rafael fans, is headed for a Atlanta Braves rookie team. He almost didn't last out the first inning yesterday when he walked the first batter, hit the next one and worked up a 3-0 count on the third batter.

But he came back to strike out the batter and whiffed 12 more Rosebuds, including the last two on six straight pitches.

Ron Gasper provided all the cushion needed by Walters with a three-run homer in the third inning.

Slick-fielding shortstop Tom Corder of Novato led the hitting attack in the opener with a pair of key singles to give an eight-hit win to Braves' hurler Ron Cole.

Novato Nine Wins Legion Opener, 14-1

Novato opened the Marin-Sonoma-Napa American Legion Junior Baseball League yesterday with a 14-1 triumph over Vacavjlle at Novato.

With Steve McNally pitching a four-hitter, Novato settled the issue with a 12-run fourth inning on seven hits, three errors, three walks and two hit batsmen.

Third baseman Tom Thomas led Novato's 14-hit attack with a double and three singles in four at-bats and stole two bases.

Gary Trono had three hits, including a double, Barry Berringer had a double and single and McNally and catcher John Sjoblom two singles each.

A's Bullpen Rests, Starters Do Job

OAKLAND (AP) — Pitching coach Bill Posedel of the Oakland A's is miffed at manager Bob Kennedy.

Posedel says his bullpen crew isn't getting enough work.

In yesterday's game with the California Angels Jim Nash made it six straight complete games for the A's pitching staff when he tossed a five-hitter to win 5-2.

Said Kennedy of Posedel's complaint:

"Wanting more work for the bullpen when we're going so well is like Santa Claus asking for more snow."

MAY 28 START

The remarkable string of complete games for the A's started May 28 when Nash beat the Boston Red Sox 3-1 with a six hitter.

Following that, Lew Krausse, John Odom, Jim Hunter and Chuck Dobson all pitched complete games before Nash did it again yesterday to make it six in a row.

Nash had problems with only one Angel hitter—first baseman Don Mincher. Don had three of the five hits off Nash, two doubles and a home run.

"I didn't make very good pitches to Mincher," Nash said. Kennedy stormed out to the mound to remind Nash of that fact after Mincher hit a homer in the fourth inning.

NO SLEEPING

"Kennedy told me that if I wanted to sleep on the mound he would get me a bed," Nash said.

The conversation woke Nash up and he breezed through the final five innings.

The victory was the third in a row for Nash and his third complete game in succession.

Outfielders Reggie Jackson and Floyd Robinson were the batting stars for the A's. Jackson had the first inside-the-park homer of his major league career in addition to a single. He also stole two bases.

Jackson, who ran the 100 yard dash in 9.6 in high school, didn't even have to slide on his homer. He was starting his first game since May 27 when he was benched for not hitting.

QUITE A TIME

Robinson had two doubles and a single, scored two runs and batted in another.

The A's completed the home stand with eight wins in 12 games. They have won five of their last six games.

Today is a travel day before Oakland opens an 11-game road trip that takes them to Washington, Baltimore and Cleveland.

Hunter will pitch for the A's against Washington tomorrow night.

Willie Stargell Has A Hot Time

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

A new page in the calendar hasn't changed Juan Marichal's habits, but Willie Stargell and the St. Louis Cardinals are busting out all over.

Marichal became the first nine-game winner in the majors yesterday, shackling Los Angeles on three hits for his fifth straight victory since May 7 as the San Francisco Giants cuffed the Dodgers 5-1.

Stargell, notorious for his June batting rampages, belted six hits, including a a pair of homers, and knocked in six runs as Pittsburgh divided a doubleheader with Atlanta, winning the opener 8-4 before bowing 10-5.

The Cardinals, meanwhile, soared back into the National League lead after 11 days off the pace by sweeping a twin bill from the New York Mets 6-3 and 3-2.

Cincinnati trimmed Philadelphia 5-3 and the Chicago Cubs took Houston 3-2 in 12 innings in other National League games.

Stargell hiked his batting average 23 points to .302 and grabbed the league lead in homers, with 10, and RBI, with 30, while wearing out Atlanta pitching. The big outfielder, who has homered in four consecutive games, delivered four runs in the first game with two singles, a double and a homer.

His two-run homer and a bases-empty shot by Roberto Clemente gave the Pirates a 3-0 first inning lead in the nightcap, but the Braves, led by Deron Johnson and Felipe Alou, rebounded behind a 17-hit barrage to gain the split.

Johnson cracked four singles and drove in two runs in a five-run seventh inning flurry that sent the Braves ahead to stay. Alou, who had four hits in the first game, contributed three more singles. He drove in the tying run and scored the go-ahead run in the seventh and singled again in the eighth to start a three-run insurance burst.

Roger Maris scored the winning run from first base on Orlando Cepeda's pop fly single in the seventh inning of the second game at New York, enabling the Cardinals to run their winning string to five games and move one-half length ahead of the Giants. Atlanta is one game behind in third place.

Dick Simpson's two-run homer and two-run singles by Mike Shannon and Tim McCarver backed Bob Gibson's strong pitching in the opener.

Bob Lunn Wins Golf Tourney

Lunn apparently isn't trying to become the "Tomato Juice Kid."

He settled for a soft drink after his triumph, in which he nipped Trevino by three strokes. Trevino finished with a 69 to win $13,800, his biggest paycheck on the tour.

Two Upset Victories At Champions Meet

SAN DIEGO (AP) — George Young, a 30-year-old school teacher, and Jim Hines, a sometimes frustrated sprinter, scored upset victories in the Champions track and field meet.

Young finished five yards ahead of world record holder Ron Clarke of Australia in the two-mile to set an American record of 8:22 before 10,482 Saturday in Balboa Stadium.

Hines shook off an earlier loss in the 100-yard dash and nipped Tommie Smith, San Jose State's world record holder, in the 220, which Smith claimed he won. Hines and Smith were caught in 20.3, three-tenths off Tommie's world mark.

Young, a Casa Grande, Ariz., health educator, passed Clarke in the last lap and his 58 second quarter enabled him to run history's second-fastest mile—2.2 seconds off Clarke's mark.

The 140-pound Young said he nearly dropped out of the meet last Wednesday.

"I was exhausted," he recalled. "I felt ill. The weather at home had been about 107 degrees but my coach advised me to go ahead and run and just do the best I could."

His previous 1968 best was 8:37.8.

In the 220, Hines grabbed a three-yard lead on the curve but Smith nearly made it a dead heat. Tommie refused to appear and claim his second-place award but did not lodge an official protest, meet officials said.

"You have to get Smith on the curve," said Hines, of the Houston Striders. "I was blasting all the way. Against Tommie, there is no other way."

Charlie Greene of Nebraska, who edged Hines in the 100 when both were clocked at 9.3, wasn't worried about the time, two ticks off the world mark.

"The time is insignificant. Any time you win a big race, that's what's important, and this is a big meet" Greene said.

George Hunt of the Houston Striders supplied another surprise when he scored a wire-to-wire victory in the 880. He won in 1:48.4, about five yards ahead of veteran Tom Farrell of the U.S. Army.

Earl McCullouch of the University of Southern California won the 120 high hurdles in 13.6. But Willie Davenport of the Houston Striders yielded second place to former UCLA star Ron Copeland's 13.8.

Other events ran just about true to form, without threatening U.S. or world marks—shot putter Randy Matson (68-7½), discus thrower Jay Silvester (205-7), pole vaulter Bob Seagren (16-6), long jumper Bob Beamon (26-9¾), miler Tim Danielson (4:02.1) and Lee Evans (45.8) in the 440.

White Sox Sweep Series With Minnesota Twins

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

If Cal Ermer was the first man on Minnesota's plane out of Chicago, he could hardly be blamed. Those White Sox can drive any manager to distraction and Ermer certainly had his fill of them over the weekend.

The Sox completed a four-game sweep from the Twins yesterday with 3-2 and 4-3 victories that boosted their total runs for the series to 10. Ten runs and they swept.

After losing 2-1 in 14 innings Friday night and 1-0 despite 8 1-3 hitless innings pitched by Dean Chance Satuday, Ermer should have been ready for anything Sunday. And he was too, except, perhaps, for the ball boy, who, of course, helped the Sox beat him.

In other American League action, Oakland defeated California 5-2, Detroit split with New York, losing 4-3 before winning 8-1, Cleveland split with Washington, winning 10-5 and then losing 11-3, and Baltimore bested Boston 4-3 in a game ended by rain after 5½ innings.

Now, for Ermer and the ball boy.

Tommy Davis, who had opened the fourth inning of the first game with a double, was on second and Gerry McNertney on first with two out when Tim Cullen doubled down the left field line. Both runners scored as shortstop Cesar Tovar and left fielder Rich Reese stumbled around the youngster, who is stationed in the corner to retrieve foul balls.

The Twins protested but Umpire John Rice ruled the boy hadn't interfered intentionally and the runs scored. Rollins singled home a run in the eighth that snapped a 23-inning scoreless string for Minnesota. But McNertney's suicide squeeze brought in another run for the Sox in the bottom half and gave them enough to stand off a last-gasp Minnesota rally in the ninth.

McNertney then snapped a 3-3 tie in the ninth inning of the nightcap with a single that secured the sweep. Earlier, Tony Oliva, who had six straight hits, tagged his second homer of the game, tying it for Minnesota. Oliva and Harmon Killebrew had consecutive homers in the second inning and Cullen had a two-run shot for Chicago.

Terra Linda Loses In Tourney Finals

Terra Linda came right back in a rally strongly reminiscent of the opening game win, scoring three in the fifth in strange fashion. Dewey Forry led off with a walk, stole second. Timmel rapped a double into left, scoring Forry. Then the fun began. Substitute Bob Daniele reached base on a error, Timmel went to third. Daniele was nailed on a pitchout. Trono bunted and Dyson fumbled it and, while he was shaking his head to himself, Trono scooted to second. Still shook, Dyson tossed one over the catcher's head, scoring Timmel, Trono going to third. Dyson made a clean sweep of it by bringing in Trono on a balk.

After that disastrous inning, caused mostly by himself, Dyson regained his composure as if nothing had happened, holding the Trojans in check the rest of the way.

Timmel, winner of 11 straight, met his Waterloo in the bottom of the sixth.

It started with a walk and stolen base. After a pop-up, the runner got to third on a dropped ball by Lazzarini. Timmel then hit Andy Clark. Milton Owens then rapped a high shot into deep center off the shaken Timmel and scored two runs for a 5-4 lead. For the clincher — two more runs scored on a sacrifice fly and a single.

That was it. The Trojans went 1-2-3 in the seventh on three putouts by the smooth-fielding Price.

Tech's victory was nothing short of remarkable, coming in with the worst overall record, a tight 9-7-1 mark. Tech had won only one non-league contest — over Terra Linda.

For Terra Linda coach Jess Payan, it was a disappointing loss after guiding the Trojans to the title in his first try.

She Loses With Mets, Not Horse

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mrs. Joan Payson loves the New York Mets, but turns to Thoroughbred racing to see winning colors.

Mrs. Payson, saddled with a baseball team that finished no better than ninth during its six years of existence, gloried today in fielding a first-place finisher.

Stage Door Johnny, co-owned by Mrs. Payson with her brother, John Hay Whitney, won the Belmont Stakes Saturday by an impressive 1¼ lengths over favored Forward Pass to earn $117,000.

Stage Door Johnny intercepted Forward Pass' attempt at a Triple Crown sweep by taking command with an eighth of a mile remaining in the Belmont and streaking to a daylight victory. He paid $10.80, $4.40 and $2.60 across the board and finished the 1½-mile trip, longest of the Triple Crown races, in 2:27 1-5, second fastest time in the modern Belmont Stakes series.

Forward Pass set most of the pace, taking a 1½-length lead shortly after the start and refusing to budge an inch as he held that same margin entering the final quarter mile. Stage Door Johnny then moved up for a neck and neck battle over the next eighth-mile and finally drew away in the run for the wire.

Marin Draws Blank At State Meet

By GARY TISCHLER

They say the company is mighty fast at the California State Track and Field Championships.

It got tornado-fast for Marin County Athletic League finalists on a sun-bright Saturday afternoon in Berkeley's Edward's Stadium as first Lowell Harris in the hurdles and then Alan Lee in the 220-yard dash were swallowed up in the jaws of a classy field.

Harris who had won his heat in the 120-high hurdles Friday, had trouble clearing one hurdle, slowing him down a shade and settling him in a sixth-place finish in 14.3. It was an ironic twist for Terra Linda's Harris, whose performance hinges so much on form.

Kerry Hampton of San Francisco Poly won the race in a clean 14.0.

Alan Lee of Tamalpais, who had turned in a 21.7 in the 220 for a victory in the third heat Friday, seemed to fade at the finish and wound up seventh in 22.1, way off form for the senior runner.

Willie Deckard of Dorsey, Los Angeles, with whom Lee had shared the best time Friday, won in another 21.7

For the 10,000 fans, the day was a big success as one record was tied and another fell hard.

Amazing Edesel Garrison, headed for track power USC, shook off a stinging defeat in the 100 to turn in a super-performance, as he led Centennial High School of Comptom to the team victory with 26 points, once again showing off the southland's track dominance.

Garrison won the 440 in a hot 46.7, tying the meet record set by Mike Newton of Whittier last year. Garrison's run was the best by a state prep on a two-turn track.

He came back to whip off an amazing 46.6 anchor leg sparking Centennial to a victory in the mile relay, to go with its 440 relay triumph.

Garrison suffered a setback when unheralded Bob Ballard of Bellflower streaked in on the inside to take the 100 in 9.6, just shading Garrison.

In addition to Hampton's hurdles winner, the north also got an unexpected victory when George Alfaro of Pittsburg, the North Coast Section 880 champ, nicked Greg Jones of Polytechnic High in Long Beach in a lunging run at the tape for a 1:52.3 victory. Jones also matched that time.

In the high jump, Reynatdo Brown of Compton, cleared 7-0 beating Otis Hailey of Wasco, who has the pending national mark of 7-1¼. Brown's leap was a meet record, and he could become the first prep to win the high jump three years running after taking it last year at 6-9¼ as a sophomore.

National prep record holder Heulon Hewitt of Merced jumped 24-7, outdueling Phil Quinet of Homestead of Sunnyvale, who had had the best qualifying mark for the finals.

Ruben Chappins of Excelsior hung on to take the two-mile in a tight, lung-aching finish in 9:05.7.2, just beating Richard Kash of Redlands.

stronger in spring training. I feel good now."

Even so, he still sleeps with a board under his mattress as insurance against back trouble. On the road, the Giants order the board since they want to take no chances with their ace.

"I can sleep no matter how hard the bed," says Marichal who fears softness.

After his misplay, Mays started the Giants' fourth inning outburst that netted three runs and insured the victory. With two down, Willie doubled off the wall in right center. Jim Hart singled him home.

BIG SINGLE

Dave Marshall followed with a single to center and then Frank Johnson topped a ball down that third base line and beat it out. With the bases loaded, catcher Dick Dietz singled to center driving in two runs.

Another run came in the fifth on a single by Ty Cline, a walk, and a single by Hart. Mays' single in the seventh drove home Ron Hunt who had singled to open the frame.

Franks Says N.L. Hurlers Throwing 'Vaseline Balls'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Manager Herman Franks of the San Francisco Giants charges more and more National League pitchers are substituting grease for spit in doctoring the baseballs they throw.

Franks calls them "vaseline balls" and declared all three Los Angeles Dodger pitchers his club faced during the weekend threw them.

He didn't limit his accusation to any particular team.

"I never saw so many guys with vaseline in their hair—just plastered down," said Franks Dodgers 5-1 yesterday. "Under the new rules, as long as a pitcher doesn't go to his mouth, he can go anyplace he wants.

I've seen caps sopped with vaseline. Pitchers keep it anyplace, on their wrists, on their foreheads, behind their ears. Anybody can throw it and it only takes a dab.

"We've seen it all this season but now we see it more and more. I'd say between 20 and 30 are using it."

Franks didn't mention whether any of his Giants threw the super slippery delivery but there was no suggestion that Juan Marichal used anything artificial as he tossed a three-hitter to beat the Dodgers in the finale of a three-game series. Los Angeles won the first two.

The San Francisco manager was particularly pointed in saying Drysdale had substituted grease for spit, declaring, "He had one of the finer spitters and now he has this. He's more effective because he throws harder."

Gaylord Perry of the Giants also had been accused of throwing the spitter but by the time Franks had finished his discourse, the Dodgers had left the clubhouse without the opportunity of replying.

Franks' point was that the league should investigate immediately and bring a halt to illegal doctoring.

"Something has to be done," he said. "Either legalize the spitball or something. This has really gotten out of hand.

"The rule prohibiting pitchers from going to the mouth pacified the public, but the vaseline ball acts better than a spitter. It explodes."

Maybe grease is the reason the pitchers have enjoyed such an edge over the batters so far in the major league baseball season.

White Sets Pace In Big Marin Bowling Splurge

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Dick White has really gotten off to a fast start in the 550 Trios League at Country Club Bowl in San Rafael.

White, after rolling a blistering 944 four-game series, now finds himself with a robust 211 average after 16 games in the summer league.

The left-hander, who had games of 247-217-224-256, led a hot night in the 550's, a night in which three 900 series and 10 800 four-gamers were rolled.

Dick Treadway, Marin veteran bowler and secretary of the Men's Bowling Association, had games of 199-222-287-232 for a 940 set and Orlando Conti had 190-193-279-239 for 901. Treadway's first three games totaled out to 708.

Tom Amiral had a big week of it, rolling an 856 set in the 550 Trios and an 821 in the 505 Trios. Gene Bluder was also way up there, an 871 in the 550's. Ed Henry had a 266 line to take some of the 550 glory.

THIS AND THAT — Kitty Mathews rolled her first 600 series, a 605 (198-182-225) in the Daffodils League and came back with a 535 series in the Elks League, both at Country Club. . . Nikki Simonian was top gal at Greenbrae Lanes, rolling a 233 game and 557 series in the TGIF League . . . Kay Brem picked up the 4-10 split in the Elbow Benders League at Country Club Bowl . . . Lorraine Dahlin gave the gals in the Sleepers League something to shoot at, a 573 series. . . . Other notes from the Elbow Benders League shows Bea Hoffmann with a 543 series, Marlene Burke with a 552, and Marcella Biesemeier climbing a ladder, 141-151-161 . . . Larry Martin with a 647 series and Elmer Tynes with a 631 paced the South Shore League at Country Club Bowl.

DOWN THE LANES — Al Hoffmann rolled a 253 line and 601 in the Weekenders League, while Ann Arnott went down a ladder, 166-156-146 and Pat Hudnell missed a bid for a triplicate, 161-161-168. . . . In the Merry Mixers at Country Club, Alan Haggerty bowled his first 200, hitting the mark right on the nose, while big team scores came from Better Homes Construction, 255 pins over average with a 1,968, and George's Cleaning Service, 254 pins over average, 1,976. . . . In the Toppers League at Country Club, Bill Hayton, 149 average, rolled a 211 game and 572 series, and Dot Donner and Mike Tauscher missed bids for triplicates — Dot rolling a 128-129-128 and Mike a 166-166-162.

TOURNEY TIME — Winning by a whooping 67 pins, the Roto-Rooters team ran off with top prize in the second annual Marin County Mixed Team Bowling Tournament at Country Club Bowl.

Frank and Inez Bernardi and Dan and Marlene Burke totaled 3,052 pins scratch for four games, and with 309 pins handicap, totaled 3,361 pins.

In second place were Ron and Anne Baccei and Al and Bea Hoffmann, 3,294 pins. Next was the Water Works team, Frank and Varena Helbing and Bud and Ida Briggs, 3,263; The Jolly Rogers, Lindy Baxter, Connie George Plum, 3,259. Fifth was won by Al and Bea Hoffmann (again) and Leo Gorman and Kay Brem, 3,254.

Frank Helbing had best handicap series, 822-96—918, shading Dan Burke who had 894 scratch and 912 handicap. Dan's wife, Marlene, made up for it by winning top handicap honors for the woman, 736-151—889.

Today is Monday, June 3, the 155th day of 1968 with 211 to follow.

The moon is in its first quarter. The morning stars are Saturn and Venus. The evening stars are Mercury and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1937 the Duke of Windsor, formerly King Edward VIII of Great Britain, was married to Mrs. Wallis Simpson of Baltimore.

In 1940 the allied evacuation of Dunkerque, France, which had begun on May 28, was completed.

In 1963 Pope John XXIII died at the age of 81 after a long illness

In 1965 the United States orbited twin astronauts Ed White and Jim McDevitt in the historic gemini-4 spacecraft. White became the first American to walk in space.

A thought for the day: English poet William Cowper said, "A fool must now and then be right by chance."

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Low Cards Are Most Valuable In Any Type Of No Trump Play

"More than half of the tricks in no trump contracts are won by low cards, and one of the main problems in play is to be in the right hand to cash them," Terrence Reese and Albert Dormer point out in their new paperback "The Play of the Cards." They illustrate this important point with the hand shown today.

SPADE LEAD

South's contract is three no-trump, and West leads the five of spades. Since it is possible that West has led from a suit headed by the queen-jack, South is tempted to let the first trick ride around to his ace-ten.

South will go down if he yields to that temptation. The ace of spades will be forced out at the first trick, and South will not have enough entries to develop and cash the long diamonds. Since the diamonds are South's chief hope, he would be foolish to get shut out of the long suit just for the sake of trying for a doubtful (and unnecessary) spade trick.

TAKES KING

Declarer should go up with dummy's king of spades at the first trick in order to play the ace of diamonds and then the low diamond. If West wins and leads a club, declarer should put up dummy's ace of clubs, get to his hand with the ace of hearts and then lead the jack of diamonds to force out the queen.

Now South still has the ace of spades as an entry to his hand. He will get two spades, three hearts, three diamonds and one club. The opponents can get two diamonds and will eventually get two other tricks, but they cannot defeat the contract as long as South is careful.

VICTORY KEY

South would go down if he took a club finesse. East would win and would switch back to spades. Now the defenders would get two diamonds, two spades and one club, defeating the contract.

Simple enough for beginners, the new Reese-Dormer book is sure to be helpful also to advanced players. Pick it up the next time you're in a bookshop.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1-no trump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠—A 10
♥—A 7 2
♦—J 10 9 6 2
♣—6 5 3

What do you say?

Answer: Bid 3-no trump. You have nine points in high cards, and thus know that the combined count is 25 to 27 points. The five-card suit may be helpful if partner has only 16 points.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Diversify Holdings To Avoid Worrying

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Four years ago you told me to hold Franklin National Bank. Your advice paid off. Now I'm worried with all my eggs in one basket—2,300 shares. Is Franklin selling out to Meadow Brook? — R. K.

A. I think you've confused your bank mergers. Meadow Brook in May, 1967, was merged into National Bank of North America. Soon afterward, Franklin merged with Federation Bank & Trust, acquiring 13 New York City branches and making it this country's 18th largest bank.

Share earnings have moved up steadily since 1964, with another boost expected this year. Aggressive management has expanded operations here and abroad and introduced new consumer services. Bank stocks may lack the glamor of high-flyers, yet investor favor is turning their way again, attracted by higher earnings.

If you can now sell Franklin profitably, I'd cut back to 500 shares, putting some of your capital into American Telephone, Jersey Standard and Warner-Lambert for moderate growth potential and income. I also recommend worry-proof bonds, all selling below par.

You can protect your heirs by owning U.S. Treasury 3¼s of 1985 or 3½s of 1990, yielding over 5 per cent and accepted at par for payment of federal estate taxes. Yields over 6 per cent are available on AA-rated Detroit Edison 3⅜s of 1976 and No. States Power 4¼s of 1986.

Q. How come you never mention high-return St. Joe Lead? — R.M.

A. You must have missed my recommendation of St. Joe last October, in reply to a reader needing more income. The dividend is presently well covered but the high yield means the stock market is discounting uncertainties in the lead and zinc commodity markets.

Net income for 1967 slipped below the 1965 level and could drop again this year despite an encouraging start partially due to strike conditions affecting competitors. This stock, in my opinion, is not attractive except for income; and if earnings continue downward, the dividend could be reduced.

PYROTECHNIC DISPLAY

A grinder operator creates a pyrotechnic display as he removes defects from nickel alloy billet at the Wilbur B. Driver subsidiary of Sylvania Electric Products Inc., at Florham Park, N.J. Sylvania is a subsidiary of General Telephone. The billet is fabricated into a rod which in turn is drawn into wire.

Strong Close After Active Market Day

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed strong today after digesting some profit taking. Trading was active.

The ticker tape was late in the closing minutes as many issues sold at the best levels of the day.

Steels put on a good group performance. Tobaccos were soft.

Prices near the close included:

IBM, up 14½ at 371½; Control Data, up 5 at 162; Hooker Chemical up 3 at 59⅝; "Automatic" Sprinkler, up 2¼ at 36⅜; Glen Alden, up ¾ at 17⅞; Occidental Petroleum, up 1⅜ at 49⅛; Inland Steel, up 1¼ at 39½; Commercial Credit, off 1⅞ at 50⅛; and Amphenol, up 1⅜ at 50½.

Volume for the first four hours was 10.93 million shares compared with 10.03 million Friday.

Buoyed by expectations of action on the tax-and-spending legislation and by reports that institutional investors were using some of their big cash backlog, the market rose from the start, weathered a bit of profit taking, and remained close to its best level of the day.

Glen Alden, up a fraction, looked like a repeater as most-active stock.

IBM opened late on a block of 22,400 shares, up 16 at 373, later shaving the gain to about a dozen points.

Hooker Chemical, up 3, and Occidental Petroleum, up more than a point, ran as second and third most-active stocks as they responded to their merger plans.

East Coast Firm Set To Acquire East Bay Firms

UNICA, N.Y. (BW) — Associated Laundries of America, Inc., has announced its intention to make a tender offer for acquisition of all of the shares of First State Bank of San Leandro, and of the California Life Insurance Co. of Oakland, and to purchase various real estate holdings of the Windsor Land Co. of San Leandro.

Associated, with its main office in Utica, is engaged in the linen supply and laundry business.

Cal Life has approximately $625 million of insurance in force and a projected current annual premium income at the rate of $18 million.

The bank, with four branches in the East Bay, has estimated total assets of $24.3 million.

Windsor Land Co.'s holdings include shopping centers, apartment houses and land held for homebuilding.

Each of the entities will operate as semi-autonomous companies and present management will be retained.

Holland Growing

THE HAGUE (UPI)—With the 1963 index figure put at 100, industrial production in Holland in 1967 (seasonally adjusted) was 129. This was an increase of 6 points, or 4.9 per cent over 1966. The yearly average for 1965 was 116.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Timmer And McGuire Real Estate Now Under Ownership Of McGuire

There has been a split in the proprietorship of Timmer and McGuire Real Estate, San Rafael.

Terrence V. McGuire has bought out Don Timmer's interest in the corporation and is new president. He still maintains the office at 339 Third Street — and until the corporate name can be changed, under Timmer and McGuire.

He has with him Stanley Walsh, Les M. Clayberger and John Neerhout and plans to increase the sales staff.

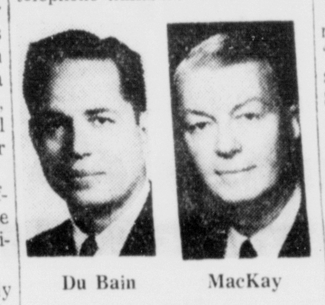
Meanwhile Timmer has opened up his own office under the name of Don Timmer, Realtor at 638 Fourth Street, San Rafael. There is offstreet parking here for up to a dozen cars and Timmer claims to have the only real estate office in the county with a drive-up window. This, however, is not for working out real estate transactions. Timmer is involved in property management and it's a convenient station for tenants to pay their rentals.

He has been in the real estate business about 21 years, with 12 of these years spent in Marin County.

COMSTOCK TERMITE CONTROL CO., in business over a year at 21 Madrone Avenue, Mill Valley, has moved to new facilities at 2092 Redwood Highway in Greenbrae.

This is an expansion move for owner Alan Kesecker of San Rafael, who has acquired much more space for his trucks and equipment, and a new secretary in the person of Mrs. Cecilia Grady of Corte Madera in place of his former telephone answering service. Check with the information operator for the new telephone number.



Du Bain MacKay

TWO MARIN MEN, Myron Du Bain of Kentfield and James R. MacKay of Sausalito, have been elected senior vice presidents at Fireman's Fund Insurance Co.

Du Bain joined the company in 1946 following service in the U.S. Navy. In successive stages he bacame manager of the Pacific inland marine department, assistant vice president and then vice president of nationwide inland marine operations.

MacKay went to work for Fireman's Fund as a claims examiner in 1936. After production responsibilities in New York he advanced to resident vice president and manager in the New England department, company vice president and was later placed in charge of casualty operations. He is an attorney.

NOW ON THE STAFF of Dohemann and Co. at the Northgate Industrial Park office are George Tillotson of Tiburon, formerly with Container Corp. of America, and Paul Dyer of Oakland, who has been working on shopping center leases in Berkeley. He plans on moving to Marin.

They will handle commercial and industrial location at Northgate Industrial Park.

GIRLS ONLY FIVE FEET TALL are now eligible as airline hostesses with Air West, the new airline which resulted from the merger of Bonanza, Pacific and West Coast airlines.

Top of the height scale will be five feet, nine inches; with maximum weight 150 pounds and age limits from 21 to 27 years. Other standards of education, public service, work experience and vision remain the same. Training has already started for the first class in Phoenix, which will be assigned to bases at San Francisco, Portland, Phoenix and Seattle for routes serving over 100 cities in Canada, Mexico and the western United States.

SPEAKING OF FLYING, a new vocational buidance book, "Your Future as a Pilot," by senior captain Kimball J. Scribner of Pan American World Airways, is now in publication by Richards Rosen Press, New York City. It covers opportunities in flying careers in all aspects.

Too Much Filing

NEW YORK (UPI)—Of 100 pieces of paper filed in the average office, only 20 will ever be called back for reference, according to the Leahy Business Archives.

Author Feels Californians Too Dependant On Defense Contracts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense employment in key California is running close to 50 per cent of the state's job total in manufacturing, a new break down indicated Saturday.

Prepared by scientist-author Ralph E. Lapp, it showed 547,000 or 40 per cent of California's 1,388,000 manufacturing jobs were in defense-based industry in 1965.

Lapp estimated in an interview, on basis of an $8 billion boost in annual defense purchasing the proportion since has increased by one-fourth and is well over 60 per cent in Southern California.

"Counting the worker-families and community neighbors who would suffer from reduced defense employment, there are at least 5 million votes in the aero-space bloc," he said. "The impact of these votes is far greater than the number would indicate because it is concentrated in relatively few states."

The proportions in defense employment ran higher than for California in some less populous states. They included essentially all those in manufacturing in New Mexico, 65 per cent in Connecticut, 63 per cent in Utah, and 42 per cent in Arizona.

Of a total of 17,647,000 were in defense-based industry in 1965, the latest year for which complete figures were available.

Lapp's most recent book is "The Weapons Culture." He has written an article titled "The Weapons Industry Is a Menace" for next week's Saturday Evening Post.

"Should peace break out, Southern California would head for an economic tail spin," he said.

Lapp continued:

"By single 'peace,' I mean a return to a normal or pre-Vietnam defense budget of $50 billion per year.

"The scheduled phasedown of funds for the Project Apollo moon program, coupled with the lack of Vietnam spending, would leave the aero-space industry with government sales down from $29 to less than $15 billion per year.

"This would mean the aero-space companies would have to find an equal volume of commercial business to keep full employment. The problem is one of staggering magnitude."

Second Place

A 1956 Bentley convertible coupe entered by William Eastman of Sausalito received a second place award among Bentleys entered in yesterday's 18th annual Pebble Beach Concours d'Elegance at Pebble Beach, Monterey County.

Injuries Only Minor In Saturday Accident

Donald Isaac O'Rourke, 37, of 171 Cobblestone Drive, Marinwood, suffered a cut lip and minor head cut when his car veered off Highway 101, south of Myrtle Street, San Rafael, early Saturday, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Officers said O'Rourke was driving north when he apparently dozed at the wheel and his car left the highway, went through a chain link fence and came to rest between the west edge of the highway and Villa avenue. The accident happened at 2:50 a.m. O'Rourke refused medical aid, officers reported.

SIX MODELS SURVIVE

Computers Give Earth New Look

WASHINGTON (SS) — Scientists "playing dice" with the structure of earth have won the game at odds of about a million to one.

Their results show that this planet's structure is very likely to be much more complex—and of different proportions — than most geophysicists have thought.

Five million models of the earth were calculated by a computer; only six survive when tested against what is actually known about the earth.

That the earth has three main divisions—a central core, an intervening mantle and a very thin crust—has been known for a long time.

Some 300 years ago Isaac Newton noted that the average density of the earth was five to six times that of water. Since the rocks on earth's crust are only about three times as dense a water, the case for heavier material inside was cinched.

During the last 60 years, scientists have not only found layers within these divisions but have also learned to estimate the depths of these internal layers with increasing confidence.

However, the computer models of the earth's structure indicate the previously assumed dimensions for the core and mantle, and the layers within them, could well be off by many miles.

Previously all known earth models based on observation were founded on certain assumptions; such as a chemically homogeneous mantle below 600 miles and a relationship between the velocities of earthquake waves and internal chemical composition based on laboratory test of minerals and rocks.

These assumptions are not necessarily true of the real earth, Dr. Frank Press of Massachusetts Institue of Technology believes on the basis of the five million computer models.

His calculations were made using what is known mathematically as the Monte Carlo method; that is, the various figures were fed into the computer on a completely random basis, as when dice are thrown, and the resulting mathematical model then tested to see how closely it resembled the real earth.

Of the six that passed this examination, all had a larger core than is usually assumed for the earth, with the outer, fluid core consistent with an alloy of iron and 15 to 25 per cent silicon. The inner, solid core, Dr. Press believes, has a composition consistent with an alloy of iron and 20 to 50 per cent nickel.

The mantle is not the same throughout. And the transition zone between the deep and upper mantle shows large density fluctuations, one of the most surprising results of the computer calculations.

Each of the six successful models required an increase in the radius of the earth's core of between 10.8 to 13.2 miles over the normally assumed value of 800 miles. Each also showed inner core densities significantly higher than the standard model, with central densities varying between 4.80 and 4.88 pounds per cubic inch, rather than some 4.3.

Density fluctuations found for the upper mantle, Dr. Press says, suggest the possibility that it "may be zoned vertically and horizontally to an extent not heretofore appreciated."

The density changes, if due to lateral or vertical variations or both, imply unstable conditions. Evidence to support such instability can be found in the upper mantle, "such as spreading sea floor, volcanism, seismic activity, heat flow variations and pole wandering."

There is also important work going on in Russia on computing earth models. However, the results reached in the Moscow calculations cannot be compared with those of Dr. Press because they apply only to limited sections of the earth, not the earth as a whole, and because they have a different mathematical basis.

Dr. Vladimir I. Keilis-Brook of the USSR Academy of Sciences in Moscow, now visiting at the University of California at Los Angeles, said in an interview that the Russian models also involve different approximations concerning earth's structure than those used by Dr. Press.

Both the U. S. and Soviet models are aimed at finding out how much — or how little — is known about earth's structure and composition.

Oceanography Takes On Greater Status

By SCIENCE SERVICE

Oceanography has long been a catchall science, embracing physical, chemical, geological and geophysical as well as biological sciences. It is now binding them more tightly together than ever.

Meteorologists are discovering the profound role of the oceans and their temperature changes in large-scale weather patterns; oceanographers are probing the air above the seas for its impact on what goes on at and beneath the surface.

The air-sea interface absorbs more and more attention of the men who go down to the sea for science and is one of the main focal points of research at Scripps Institution of Oceanography, one of the most beautiful and most important centers of oceanographic research in the United States.

NEAR LA JOLLA

The buildings of this oceanographic branch of the University of California, San Diego, march down a relatively steep slope overlooking the gracefully curved, wave-washed beach at La Jolla.

For Scripps researchers, the sea is not only the focus of the pleasure of work but also a focus of the pleasure of pleasure. Bathing suits are standard attire on warmer days and surfboards are handy for lunchtime sport.

Scripps Institution was founded in 1903 as an independent biological research laboratory. It became part of the University of California in 1912, and was designated Scrips Institution for Biological Research in recognition of the interest and financial support of Mill Ellen Browning Scripps and her half-brother, E. W. Scripps, the publisher.

The institution's name was changed to the one now used in 1925, a recognition that the scope of the research program encompassed many more aspects than the biology of the sea.

SYMBOL OF INTEREST

Symbol of the still broadening interest is Dr. William A. Nierenberg, formerly a professor of physics at the University of California's Berkeley campus. He has been director of Scripps since 1965.

Tall and powerful, Dr. Nierenberg — Bill to many of the staff — is a dynamo who vibrates enthusiasm about the varied programs at Scripps, describing them with a rapidity that would shatter most stenographers. The word on campus is that when he and oceanography professor Dr. John D. Isaacs, another tornado of motion and ideas, start a discussion, it proceeds at such a clip that few can follow the exchange.

But out of such exchanges come some exciting science and plans for exploration of the essential interface.

In undertaking the directorship, Dr. Nierenberg in a sense returned to his first love — geophysics. A graduate student at Columbia University, he was working on the propagation of earthquake waves and how their velocities vary in different directions, a field called finite strain.

World War II interrupted this study and he received his doctorate in physics from Columbia after working under Nobelist Dr. I. I. Rabi on the Manhattan Project. His kind of interterdisciplinary science not only dominates his institution; it is, by and large, the key to modern oceanography.

CURRENT PLANS

One of the current Scripps plans for investigation air-sea interaction to improve long-range oceanographic and meteorological forecasting will involve these disciplines in a vast area of the central North Pacific. Scripps scientists, in cooperation with the Office of Naval Research, will this year start probing an area four million miles square some 1,000 miles south of the Aleutian Islands. If the results of the pilot study are as rewarding as Scripps scientists expect, a larger program will be conducted.

For the pilot study, two clusters of four deep-moored instrument stations, under development since 1952, will be installed by Scripps and the navy north and northwest of Hawaii. The unmanned instrument stations have a catamaran structure.

In the center of each cluster will be a so-called Monster buoy, 40 feet long, developed for the Office of Naval Research by the Convair Division of General Dynamics.

Smaller instrument stations, moored in water 12,000 to 18,000 feet deep, will record surface wind speeds and directions, as well as water temperatures and salinity, at depths down to 1,500 feet. A separate station in each cluster will measure ocean currents. The moored instruments will also record barometric pressures, solar radiation levels and relative humidity.

The principal investigator for this study is Dr. Isaacs, 55-year-old director of the marine life research group whose white hair and nearly all-white beard frame sparkling blue eyes.

As do most oceanographers, Dr. Isaacs believes that one of the critical problems of ocean science is "to determine the nature and causes of the large-scale, persistent shifts in the temperature of the surface water," since these affect fish populations as well as weather.

Continuing fluctuations along coastlines are well known, but only in the last decade has the fact that these local changes are related to variations involving entire oceanic regions become apparent. The North Pacific pilot study is aimed at learning whether the large-scale changes can be predicted.

The study will also include a sampling of plankton because these tiny life forms "constitute an important and exciting link with the recent past history of the ocean's boundary currents as recorded by varied layers of sediments in the coastal basins," Dr. Isaacs says.

The sediments are made up in part of the remains of the innumerable plankters that swarm in fertile seas. The relative populations of differing species, as laid down in the sediments, reflect water conditions of the past. Today's plankton trawls provide a baseline for the study.

Larger forms that feed on the plankton, and each other, are also the object of Scripps studies. To facilitate the research, Dr. Isaacs has designed a camera rig that penetrates the depths while luring hungry fish to itself.

The camera, attached to a 25-gallon can filled with fish, is dropped to the ocean floor from a ship, which can then proceed on other business. The rig automatically takes pictures of assaults on the can every five minutes.

At a pre-set time, the camera releases itself and pops to the surface where it radios its position so the unit can be picked up.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Look For Solid Leadership In Selecting Camp For Your Child

VAN DELLEN

"I'll take the boys swimming," said a curate in Queensland (Australia). "The surf and the sharks don't bother me."

"Unless you're scared stiff of both of them, you re not going to take my boys swimming," said an experienced Scoutmaster. We hope that parents who are considering summer camp for their offspring look for a leader with these qualities. At this time of the year many children look forward to camping, and parents are doing their best to select a suitable place.

THE BETTER CAMPS have directors and counselors experienced in group recreation. These are the educators with a sense of responsibility similar to that of the Queensland Scoutmaster. Those in charge love children and know how to lead and guide them.

What about the standards for a good camp set-up? Housing should be clean, dry, and comfortable. The facilities for eating, sports, and sleeping must be adequate but not necessarily swanky. The better camps also have a nurse or a physician on the premises or within call. Physical examinations are required prior to enrollment to detect contagious diseases or physical defects. These medical aspects are important because they offer a sense of security to the parents and to young campers.

IT IS DIFFICULT for children to escape cuts, bruises, and stings. Severe sunburn and drowning are potential dangers and it is here that the caliber of the directors and counselors comes to the fore. This means that a camp is no better than the men and women who run it.

Hazards are minimized through direction and supervision. Drownings are preventable if the possibility is always kept in mind by alert camp directors. Strict safety rules are required and must be followed to the letter.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

PUFFING UP STAIRS

B. P. writes: I have trouble breathing when walking up two flights of stairs. Of course, I am carrying pounds and pounds of blubber. Would you be able to suggest something so that I might overcome this problem?

REPLY

You can't overeat and have your breath too. Lose weight and exercise. This will condition your heart and body so that it can handle this type of activity.

FLASHES IN WOMAN OF 52

A. R. writes: What would cause frequent hot flashes after they have been absent for two years? I am 52 and went through the menopause with no real problems. The hot flashes I had two years ago were not so bad as the ones I am getting now.

REPLY

Hot flashes may develop independently of the menopause. These flashes are of vascular origin and, although more common during the change of life, can occur to men and women of all ages.

TENSION IN EYEBALLS

C. G. writes: What is glaucoma?

REPLY

It is increased tension of the eyeball due to blockage of the fluid in the eye's outer chamber. Our leaflet on glaucoma, which treats the subject more thoroughly, can be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request.

TRANQUILIZERS

H. Y. C. writes: Can you tell me how tranquilizers help a nervous person?

REPLY

Tranquilizers reduce the autonomic response to stress-provoking tensions. These products relax the central nervous system.

Today's Health Hint — Expectant mothers should not eat for two.

REDS LIGHT GERMAN BORDER

This highway of lights along the border dividing Germany was recently installed by the East German Communists. Its purpose: to provide further discouragement to those who attempt to flee to the west. This picture was taken in an isolated area of woods along the border. Of the 54 lights along the segment, 20 shine on West German territory while 34 are directed to the east. The strip is observed by guards from lookout towers.

Science Shrinks Painful Hemorrhoids Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

Finds Way That Both Relieves Pain and Shrinks Piles In Most Cases

New York, N.Y. (Special): Science has found a special formula with the ability, in most cases—to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching and relieve pain.

In case after case doctors proved, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. The secret is Preparation H®. There is no other formula for hemorrhoids like it. Preparation H also soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.

TELEVISION REVIEW

The Confrontation Rather Tame, Polite

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—As Sen. Eugene McCarthy predicted, his nationally televised weekend confrontation with Sen. Robert Kennedy was a rather tame, polite proceeding.

The reason was that the prime time, one hour ABC-TV broadcast, which originated in San Francisco Saturday night, was hardly a debate at all because of the ground rules.

Sitting around a table, the two seekers of the Democratic presidential nomination answered questions by three ABC-TV newsmen, and then each was permitted to rebut the replies.

RARE MOMENTS

Occasionally, a bit of informality broke through and there were some impromptu exchanges, as well as slightly critical personal comments—but these were rare moments, and were quickly smoothed over.

What emerged almost at once, and continued for the hour, was the obvious fact that McCarthy and Kennedy generally agreed on many points, and had more criticism of the Johnson administration — and candidate Hubert Humphrey—than for each other.

There are, of course, some sharp personal disagreements of principle between Kennedy and McCarthy, yet these were not brought out enough to satisfy the interest in such a meeting.

WORTHY OPPONENTS

From a television viewpoint, however, there were some points of interest. Both men were reasonably gracious to each other, and they proved worthy video opponents.

In addition, although the political experts may well feel otherwise, it seemed that both men did themselves some good in regard to the California primary tomorrow.

Kennedy, for instance, had been hurt by last week's loss to McCarthy in the Oregon primary. Yet by appearing on equal terms with the victor Saturday on nationwide television, one tended to think of the present and future instead of the past.

McCarthy, in turn, although the Oregon winner, has little of the celebrity status of Kennedy, and the national video exposure most likely gave him some needed publicity.

In one sequence near the end, McCarthy seemed to do quite well when each man was offered the chance to explain why he should be president. But many constant televiewers may also have been surprised to note, throughout the broadcast, how Kennedy's television technique had improved.

For example, he spoke more to the point, and with less repetition, than on past occasions. Known, furthermore, as an aggressive combatant, he was more subtly forceful this time. And by relaxing more, his maturity was enhanced.

Tribunal Hits Anti-Death Jury Selection

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Supreme Court ruled unconstitutional today the practice in all but two states of automatically excluding from juries for murder trials and other capital punishment cases persons who object to the death penalty.

Five justices joined in the majority opinion written by Justice Potter Stewart. Justices Hugo L. Black, John M. Harlan and Byron R. White filed a vigorous dissent. Justice William O. Douglas disagreed with the majority opinion but did not label his views an outright dissent.

The ruling came on an appeal by William C. Witherspoon, 42, sentenced to death for the fatal shooting of a Chicago policeman, Mitchell Stone, in 1959.

Justice Stewart said the state of Illinois had "stacked the deck" against Witherspoon by automatically excluding from the jury anyone who voiced opposition to the death penalty.

The court however did not reverse the guilty verdict, saying there had been no showing that the jury was unrepresentative. At the trial 47 of 96 jurors were disqualified because they voiced qualms of conscience about sending Witherspoon to the electric chair.

The exclusion practice prevails in most federal courts and in all states which have the death penalty except Iowa and South Dakota.

"No defendant can constitutionally be put to death at the hands of a tribunal so selected,"

In other actions, the court:

Ruled unanimously that a teacher can speak out on issues of public interest without fear of dismissal if his statements are not knowingly or recklessly false. The decision was in favor of Marvin L. Pickering, fired from his high school teaching job in Will County, Ill., after he wrote a letter to a newspaper accusing school authorities of spending too much money on sports.

Granted a hearing next term to Dick Gregory, Negro comedian and civil rights activist, in his appeal against a disorderly conduct conviction after a 1965 protest march at the home of Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley. Gregory and 40 others were found guilty and fined in the case.

Agreed to hear next fall or winter a case in which a Negro woman, Mrs. Nellie Hunter, challenged an Akron, Ohio, open housing referendum law which she claims has "enacted private racism into law."

Rejected a second attempt by former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker to collect damages from the Associated Press in a libel suit growing out of the 1962 University of Mississippi riots. The court initially ruled against Walker in June 12, 1967.

The jury exclusion ruling applied the majority ruling to those who claim "conscientious or religious scruples" against the death penalty as well as those expressing general opposition to condemning a person to death.

In the dissent, Black declared the decision "goes a long way in destroying the concept of an impartial jury as we have known it."

Douglas also found strong fault with the majority opinion.

Florida Woman Dies During Tour

A 69-year-old Florida woman on a vacation tour of Muir Woods collapsed yesterday afternoon and was taken to Marin General Hospital where she was pronounced dead on arrival.

The victim was Ollie Mae Mitchell of West Hollywood, who had returned from a trip to Hawaii and was visiting Muir Woods on her way home, reported Coroner Donovan O. Cooke, Marin County coroner.

Mrs. Mitchell, a widow, apparently died of natural causes, Cooke reported. She had a history of heart trouble and had suffered a stroke in February. Mrs. Mitchell was pronounced dead at 3:15 p.m., and her body was taken to Williams Mortuary. She was a native of Indiana.

Mrs. Mae Wygant was general chairman of the show.
